MIRACLE AT SPRINGHILL

Cutaway drawing of Springhill, N.S., coal mine shows where 12 men were located today trapped behind rockfall at 13,000-foot level. Rescue crews are expected to reach them late tonight or early tomorrow. Meanwhile, men are being fed through tube. (CP Photo Map.)

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The coronation of Pope John XXIII today was fixed for Tuesday, Nov. 4.

Prince Chairs Ottawa Parley; Record Flight

OTTAWA (CP) — Prince Philip was to deliver the key speech at an Ottawa conference today after a record-breaking flight from London.

Tuesday, he was at the Queen's side as she opened Britain's Parliament.

Today, he took the chair at a four-nation symposium on the role of English-speaking peoples in a changing world.

In itself, his 8½-hour, jet-propelled journey—the fastest commercial westbound flight across the Atlantic—emphasized the way the world is changing.

The big blue and silver Comet IV of British Overseas Airways Corporation, commanded by Capt. T. B. Stoney, streaked the 3,500-odd miles from London to Ottawa at an average speed of 416 miles an hour.

Prince Philip came out bareheaded and unescorted to be greeted by Governor-General Massey, whose guest he will be for three days, and acting prime minister Green.

Philip seemed surprised when Mr. Massey told him it was a "record-breaking flight — quite exciting."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

That some should die that others may breathe life and freedom awakes solemn and grateful remembrance in our hearts, O God. The joy of life strongly masters our moods. We were not made for death. So this day, caught up in the beauty and mirth of spring, leaves little room for sadness. Yet let us recall that the roots of the flower of happiness are nourished by sacrifice and that the highest good is never cheaply bought. We reverently remember Thy Son, who freely gave his life, that heaven might be ours here on earth and forever. In His name we devotedly offer ourselves in the service of mankind. Amen.

Treasurer Charged

CALGARY (CP) — RCMP said today G. R. Clark, manager of the Alberta treasury office at Empress, has been charged with theft and a warrant issued for his arrest. Charges resulted from a shortage of $3,400 uncovered two weeks ago by bank inspectors.

Three Canadians Win $140,000

TORONTO (CP)—Three Canadians from Ontario today won prizes of $140,000 each when London Cry romped home the winner in the Cambridge-shire at Newmarket, England.

Four Canadians won second prizes of $56,000 each and 12, including one from Vancouver, won third prizes of $28,000 each.

Falls of Shin placed second in the race and Aggressor was third.

JUSTICE J. O. WILSON

Sommers Case Goes To Jury Thursday

(See Page 19)

VANCOUVER (CP) — The presiding judge in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial said today the jury might think that the actions of a timber executive in his dealings with a large lumber concern were of "dubious business morality."

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, continuing his summation in the 73rd day of the trial, was referring to H. Wilson Gray, president of Pacific Coast Services Limited, and his dealings with the multi-million dollar timber concern of B.C. Forest Products Limited, who paid him $30,000.

The Crown alleges this money went all or in part to former lands "and forests minister Robert Sommers as a bribe for a forest management licence the company was granted in 1955."

The judge, who is expected to conclude his summation sometime Thursday and ask the jury for a verdict on the main count of conspiracy, concluded his general narrative. He then began reviewing the defence in the case of each of the eight accused.

He noted the Crown claimed the B.C. Forest Products money was to bribe the former minister. But the defence said that was not the case and that the money was paid to Gray for valuable services rendered.

Part of the work the company said that was done by Gray was in connection with the purchase by B.C. Forest of the huge Kapoor timber stand on Vancouver Island for $3,000,000. The deal fell through.

The judge noted that while Gray was reporting to B.C. Forest and getting paid for his work, he was actually the selling agent for the Kapoor interests.

The justice said that because of this the jury might think his dealings were of "dubious business morality."

In conflict with this, however, the judge noted, was the testimony of B.C. Forest vice-president Thomas Burgess, who had denied knowledge of any corrupt purpose and had said there were many financial matters that would not be known to Daniels.

The judge said his own belief was—but the jury must decide for themselves—that B.C. Forest made a genuine and honest effort to buy the Kapoor timber.

But he added that if the jury accepted that, then it was left with the question as to how much Gray had to do with it and whether his work on that deal and other matters justified the big payments made to him by B.C. Forest.

Special UN Staff Planned For Jordan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations has completed plans to establish a stabilizing UN presence in Jordan, with liaison offices in Beirut and Damascus.

The UN reported today that Pier Spinnell, who arrived in Amman Sept. 27 after secretary-general Dag Hammarskjöld's Middle East peace mission, was setting up a staff in the Jordanian capital following talks with members of King Hussein's government.

Spinnell was sent to the Middle East by Hammarskjöld to organize a permanent UN operation.

Hussein had refused to accept a UN force in his country, but apparently agreed to allow a staff of UN diplomats to operate out of his capital, trying to introduce a restraining influence after a summer of conflict in Lebanon, Jordan and Iraq.

THE PETER TOWNSEND STORY

Hasty Marriage Doomed to Fail

By NORMAN BARRYMAINE
(Copyright by Peter Davies Ltd.)

CHAPTER 3

In the words of one of the pilots under his command: "Peter Townsend was one of the finest men I ever met. He was sensitive and shy and very sincere. With those people he knew well he was lively and amusing, a good conversationalist. He was a superb commanding officer because he was never harsh or rude, was balanced, and always interested in the welfare of everybody. He was liked by all ranks."

He was in the air every day and almost all day. He had first-hand experience in being outnumbered.

On July 10, 1940, he was shot down while patrolling over the North Sea soon after dawn. The weather was rather dirty when he spotted a Dornier reconnaissance aircraft. He came in to attack from astern and after an exchange of fire there was a loud explosion in Peter's cockpit. The Dornier had registered a hit with a high explosive shell. By the time he baled out his Hurricane was out of control.

The minesweeper Cap Finisterre, which fortunately for Peter was apparently off its course in a minefield, lowered a boat to pick him up. Thinking he was a German, the mate stood menacingly in the stern with an oar raised in his hand. Peter directed a flow of language at him which identified him beyond all possible doubt as an Englishman. Strong arms hauled him out of the icy water.

The Battle of Britain had begun on Aug. 12, and Peter's squadron had been moved to Croydon—the front line. On

12 Trapped Behind Rock 'May be More'

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—Twelve men were found alive today on the 13,000-foot level of No. 2 Colliery, wrecked by a giant upheaval last Thursday night. A mine official said, "There may be more."

Reports of the miraculous survival came as rescue workers and mine officials had all but given up hope that any of the 69 men sealed behind tons of rock and timber could still be alive.

When a bump shattered the depths of the mine seven days ago 174 men were trapped. Eighty-one were later rescued and 24 bodies brought out.

While hopes for the survival of others were vanishing, rescue workers continued to toil through the wreckage. It wasn't until today that they reached the 13,000-foot level where about 55 miners were believed entombed.

Rescue workers said they received a message from the trapped men through a six-inch pipe. "There are 12 of us here," said the men. "Come and get us."

Mine officials said the men were 60 feet away behind a heap of rock and debris. They estimated the men would be reached about midnight tonight or in the early hours of Thursday morning.

As soon as word reached the pithead that the men were alive, hot liquids were sent into the mine. They were immediately passed through the tube to the men.

The survival of the 12 raised hopes that others trapped on the same level might also be alive. However, there was no immediate word.

HERE ARE NAMES OF SURVIVORS

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—Following are the names of the 12 men found alive in No. 2 Colliery today:

Harold Brine, Joseph McDonald, Joseph Holloway Jr., Harry Leadbetter, Wilfred Hunter, Gorley Kempf, Caleb Rushton, Levi Milley, Theodore Michniak, Bowman Addison, Hugh Guthro, Eldred Lowther.

Recalls other case

Finding of the men alive recalled the 1956 explosion in now-sealed neighboring No. 4 Colliery when 127 men were trapped. Hope had been virtually abandoned then but finally there were 88 survivors.

Harold Gordon, coal chief with the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, who has been directing rescue efforts since the bump, had said earlier that the only reason there was any hope at all that survivors would be found was because rescue workers had not been able to reach those at the 13,000-foot level.

But despite the general air of pessimism, some miners continued to hope. Miner Stan Pashkoski said Tuesday night: "I still have hopes there will be somebody alive down there."

Finding of 12 men raised to 93 the number of known survivors of the bump, an underground shift of strata common to the No. 2 Colliery which sent rock crashing all around the men working at three levels of the mine.

FOUND DIFFICULTY

Rescue workers had previously broken through to the 13,400 and 13,800-foot levels but had great difficulty reaching those at 13,000 feet.

Fifty-seven men remain unaccounted for but rescue workers now are digging with renewed hope that further survivors will be among them. Rocks, timbers, rails and coal cars packed into a solid mass in some places have slowed the job of clearing wreckage from the depths of the mine, deepest in North America.

One body was brought to the surface Tuesday night and another today. Miners said it took them eight hours to burrow 25 feet Tuesday. Before that an average eight-hour shift had taken rescuers a mere 12 feet along the 13,000-foot level.

$128 GIVEN MINER FUND

The Greater Victoria disaster fund for the stricken mining town of Springhill, N.S., jumped to $128 today.

Twenty-eight donations have been left at the city clerk's office, including $68 contributed this morning.

CONDITION UNKNOWN

PEARKES BACK ON HOME FRONT

Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes, VC, flew back to Victoria today to attend to constituency matters in Esquimalt and Saanich and to inspect the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry establishment at Work Point Barracks.

His private secretary, Bernard Hofley, said the minister will probably go to Work Point Barracks next Monday.

Accompanied by Mrs. Pearkes, he will return to Ottawa next Tuesday.

Wengren Hookup Denied by BCE

A suggestion by Liberal leader, Arthur Laing that the B.C. Electric has signed an agreement to use high-cost power from the proposed Wenner-Gren development in B.C. has been denied by company vice-president Dr. Harry L. Purdy.

Mr. Laing called on B.C. Electric president A. E. Grauer Monday for "an unequivocal statement as to whether his firm has signed an agreement to use this high-cost power in the Greater Vancouver, Fraser Valley and Victoria areas."

Mr. Laing told a party rally that if the B.C. Electric has signed such an agreement this area "will be shackled for all time by the highest power rates in Canada, if not on the continent."

The provincial leader wanted to know if the BCE is behind Axel Wenner-Gren's scheme to build an industrial empire in B.C.'s northern Rocky Mountain trench by developing Peace River power.

More study

In denying an agreement has been signed between his company and the Wenner-Gren interests, Dr. Purdy said cost of power from the Peace River will not be known until considerably more engineering has been completed.

Such an agreement, if signed, would rob B.C. of chance to become an industrial province, Mr. Laing said.

To spur industrial development in the province, present power rates charged industrial users by the BCE should be "half what they are," Mr. Laing said.

Competition 'Damaging' To Public ... TCA Chief

OTTAWA (CP) — President Gordon R. McGregor of Trans-Canada Air Lines today said competition now in transcontinental air service would not be in the public interest.

Mr. McGregor was testifying before the air transport board which is hearing an application by Canadian Pacific Airlines aimed at breaking TCA's monopoly on Canada's main-line, east-west air routes.

"I contend that the introduction of competition on the transcontinental routes at this time would be damaging to the public interest," Mr. McGregor said.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

MONTEREY PARK, Calif. — Detective Richard Brammer told his partner, Joe Durban, Tuesday that he had dreamed of arresting Albert Rodela, whom they had been hunting a month on a forgery warrant.

In the dream, Brammer said, the arrest was made at the home of Rodela's sister.

So the detectives went to the sister's home.

Ten minutes later Rodela drove up, and Brammer's dream came true.

CORSIER - SUR - VEVEY, Switzerland — Charlie Chaplin's secretary said today a report the veteran comedian planned to leave Switzerland and move to Canada was "ridiculous."

The report carried by a Hollywood trade publication said the purpose behind this planned move was to enable Chaplin to visit the U.S. when he wants not as a "deported" Briton but as a Canadian resident.

HOLLYWOOD — Zeppo Marx, 57, youngest of show business' Marx Brothers, is engaged to marry blonde model Diane Davies, 22.

They haven't set a date for the marriage, he said Tuesday. They met about six months ago in Las Vegas, Nev., where the bride-to-be attended high school.

LONDON — An enterprising, unappreciated artist Tuesday offered what was probably the biggest bargain in the history of British art.

His unsigned, unframed portrait of a girl was put up for sale in a shop window with the notation: "Price £200,000 ($560,000) — reduced to 25 shillings" ($3.50).

NEW YORK — Prime Minister Diefenbaker may go on a tiger hunt during his round-the-world tour—at least as an unarmed observer.

The hunt has been suggested as "something to do" for the prime minister and his 14-man party during their India tour Nov. 18-24.

The Canadian high commissioner in New Delhi first proposed the idea that Mr. Diefenbaker go on a hunt of his own. The prime minister was all for it—until he heard of the prohibitive costs involved in such a venture.

It seems now, however, that someone else—the Maharajah would take them to get survivors to the surface after rescuers reach them.

What makes the survival of the 12 all the more amazing is that they have been entombed almost six days. In 1956 survivors were reached after 1 1/2 days.

The trapped miner who gave the message through the pipe was Gorley Kempt. Blair Phillips, an engineer taking tests for gas, took the message.

Mr. Gordon was standing in the mine office when a Canadian Press reporter reached there. He smiled and nodded. A tear was running down his cheek.

CALL IT MIRACLE

There were tears in many eyes as word of the miracle spread through this stricken mining town. A taxi driver, who drove a newspaperman to the mine was crying.

Hundreds of citizens swarmed from their homes. A crowd gathered at the mine portal.

Holland has more than 16,000 vessels, some as large as 1,500 tons, on its inland waterways.

Tough Soviet Line Dims A-Ban Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials saw little hope today for an early agreement between Russia and the Western powers for a start on disarmament in the nuclear age.

They blame the darkening prospect on evidence that the Soviet Union is following a generally tougher line in its relations with the West.

Two negotiations are imminent.

On Friday the United States, Britain and Russia will open diplomatic talks at Geneva on a possible ban on nuclear weapons testing, to be backed up by a world-wide inspection system to prevent violations.

Ten days later panels of Communist and Western experts will start discussions on the technical problems involved in preventing surprise attack—such things as ground and aerial inspection systems that would be capable of discovering concentrations of troops and weapons in advance of a massive assault.

Federal Aid Eyed by CIDC

Greater Victoria municipalities are expected to apply for federal "winter employment assistance" grants for several projects considered Tuesday by Capital Improvement District Commission.

The projects, which still must be approved by the B.C. cabinet, include a $50,000 to $85,000 widening of Douglas Street between Superior and Dallas.

Saanich wants to spend $100,000 for the first stage of a land-sea park at Cadboro Bay, adjoining the Gyro children's park.

Esquimalt seeks further development at Kinsmen Gorge Park.

Oak Bay asked improvements to Beach Drive where it cuts through Victoria Golf Club links, and a possible widening of King George Terrace.

NEW CHAIRMAN

First 1958 meeting of the CIDC was held under chairmanship of deputy provincial secretary R. A. Pennington. Mr. Pennington retires from the civil service in December.

The closed meeting was to recommend to the B.C. cabinet how $200,000 in budgeted funds should be allocated to capital district beautification. Mayor Percy Scurrell and Reeves of Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt are on the committee with other government appointees.

Discussion centred on possible use by municipalities of funds offered Monday by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker. He said he would ask federal government approval and payment to municipalities of 50 per cent of labor costs involved in any winter project which would not normally have been carried out.

DOUBTFUL

There was some doubt expressed that CIDC projects would meet these requirements because the funds used are provided by the province, although the municipalities carry out the work. If the federal aid is obtainable, the projects could be enlarged.

It is expected the municipalities will tell Ottawa there are not many other projects which they could suitably embark upon at this time, despite the federal offer of aid.

Labor costs, which would be shareable, represent only a portion of the outlay which would be required for any major municipal works.

Unless the federal government agrees to extend the grants to CIDC projects, thus providing winter employment as the grants intend, little would likely be started this year. Some projects, however, might be turned over to 1959 councils and 1959 budgets.

TIME TO STUDY

In Victoria, city engineer J. C. Garnett was not ready to say what work of a purely municipal nature could be undertaken by Victoria this winter.

He said it will take some study.

"I assure you we will do everything we possibly can," added Mayor Scurrell.

Esquimalt municipal engineer John Graeme plans to meet Reeve A. C. Wurtele on the matter. Off-hand, he could only suggest a new parks development scheme which would entail hand-clearing. This would mean a maximum amount of the cost would be labor, and thus a maximum amount of the total would be shareable under the federal scheme.

Saanich Reeve George Chatterton thought his municipality might begin work on new municipal yard buildings, at an undisclosed site. (Site is chosen but negotiations are still under way.)

LAKE PARK

He suggested that consideration be given by Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee to applying for federal aid in slashing and burning in the further development of Beaver-Elk Lake Park.

Reeve Norris of Oak Bay could not immediately envisage any program which could be carried out by Oak Bay in view of the added cost to the municipality.

Premier Bennett welcomed the federal aid program and immediately telegraphed a message of co-operation to the prime minister.

At the same time he suggested the terms of the federal offer be extended to take in labor employed in hospital and school construction.

Meanwhile, Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black sent wires Tuesday to all B.C. municipalities asking them to file applications for winter work project aid.

The federal government has made each request for a 50 per cent of labor costs grant, dependent on approval by the provinces.

MAYOR, WALDO 'SIGN OFF'

Mayor Percy Scurrell and his co-member on the Capital Improvement District Commission, Waldo Skillings, "buried the hatchet" Tuesday.

Earlier, the mayor had charged he had been threatened with opposition at CIDC meetings unless he stopped fighting erection of CIDC signs on local beautification projects.

CIDC funds have been used on Beacon Hill waterfront improvement. City authorities felt the signs would indicate the whole park was a joint project with the government, if CIDC signs went up.

Mr. Skillings denied making threats.

Tuesday the mayor gave Mr. Skillings a cigar. He said it is now suggested the CIDC signs go up during construction phase of any CIDC project. Later they would be replaced by small, dignified signs of mutually agreed design.

Tug Exploded 'Like a Bomb'

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — A 35-foot tug exploded "like a bomb" in False Creek Tuesday night, injuring two men and causing between $25,000 and $30,000 damage.

Most seriously injured was Gerald Girardot, 20, of Burnaby, a deckhand on the tug. He is in hospital with face burns. Skipper George Edwardson was released from hospital after treatment for shock.

Witnesses said the Kathy K exploded after taking on gasoline from a Home Oil barge between Burrard Bridge and the RCAF marine dock.

The explosion was believed to have been touched off by a backfire in the tug's engine. Flames quickly jumped to the barge but did not ignite 23,000 gallons of gasoline in the holds. City firemen closed Burrard Bridge, directly above the barge, to traffic for 30 minutes, fearing a second explosion. The fire boat J. H. Carlisle arrived and sank the tug with tons of water from its hoses.

Crews on three nearby mine sweepers played hoses over the two vessels and other small craft.

MAN BEATEN

VANCOUVER — A used-car salesman said Monday three men savagely attacked him after accusing him of supplying information for a newspaper series on the operations of Vancouver used-car dealers.

Morely Jameson, 38, said the trio pummeled him with their fists, kicked him and struck him with a pick handle Sunday. One of them carried a gun. Mr. Jameson was warned that if he went to police both his legs would be broken and all the windows of cars in his lot smashed.

HOSPITALS

VANCOUVER — British Columbia hospital trustees Tuesday night approved a motion that described the powers of the hospital insurance commissioner as "discriminatory", and asked for the appointment of a judge to give decisions binding on disputes.

More than 300 delegates from British Columbia are attending the 41st annual convention here of the British Columbia Hospitals Association.

The motion will be put to the full convention Friday.

The meeting was unanimous.

$70 MILLION LOSS IN FIRES

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — More than $70,000,000 was lost through forest fires in northern B.C. this summer by B.C. forest officials said Tuesday.

The $70,000,000 figure previously announced as the loss represented only the loss in forest service revenue.

that hospitals at least should make at attempt to force government action, although some speakers claimed the government would never agree to allow the appointment of an arbitrator.

Trustees also approved a motion requesting a pension plan for hospital workers. The motion suggested costs of a contributing pension plan should be considered a reasonable charge on the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service budget.

GOLD INGOT DISAPPEARS

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 93-pound gold ingot worth $24,000 disappeared from a shipment of bullion being flown from Chicago to La Guardia airport Tuesday night.

Airport officials called in police and FBI agents to aid in the search for the ingot, part of a shipment of three ingots worth a total of $72,000.

The ingot was discovered missing after the shipment was unloaded and hauled into a hangar by a freight tractor. It first was thought to be merely misplaced, but a thorough search turned up nothing.

Looking for a Known Answer

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT has asked the man who wrote the book, Hon. Gordon Sloan, to investigate the "whole method of handling forest fires in British Columbia."

This is a useful inquiry, and Forest Minister Williston has chosen an appropriate time for it. The province has just emerged from the most disastrous fire season in recent years.

The broad answer to the inquiry, it is safe to say, will be that which Mr. Sloan provided in his earlier two reports on British Columbia's forest resources.

On each occasion the commissioner said more money had to be spent on the job.

The 1936 report, which noted a marked improvement in the preceding 10 years, stated the case in one sentence: "Fire protection is not yet adequate and for the same reason as that expressed in 1945; a lack of sufficient funds."

To cite the broad answer is not to discount the value of further inquiry.

There are matters of organization which should be studied. While implicitly the forest service has authority to conscript help to fight fires when they occur, there is ample room for better arrangements for immediate attacks on outbreaks as soon as they start.

The commissioner has emphasized this aspect of fire fighting in his 1936 report: "A desirable degree of efficiency in fire suppression can only be achieved if fire is detected in its incipience and crews are on its location in time to contain, control, and subdue it within a narrow area."

The incidence of simultaneous fires on Vancouver Island this year emphasizes that point. Crews fighting one outbreak were, on occasions, called to attend another before their job was finished at the first location. And when they were busy at the second, third calls were sometimes made on their services.

It is true that the summer of 1938 was exceptional; the hazard far higher than normal. But it is also true that an efficient fire-fighting force must be adequate to handle the exceptional, not so small that it is good only for a minor fire.

In recognition of that point, it is probable that the government department concerned may seek more flexible control over fire-fighting forces within the forest industry. The effective crews maintained by timber and mill interests may be required to respond beyond their immediate and present jurisdiction, to bat down fires or to hold the line until government forces can come up.

That is a matter which will arouse considerable concern among big operators who have already protested the demands made on them within their own tree farms, formerly called forest management licences.

It is obvious, of course, that in addition to any further assistance the government may demand from industry, the provincial service will have to be strengthened if it is to do the job expected of it.

That would indicate higher expenditure for fire protection from the provincial budget.

In that respect the government might turn also to the most recent Royal Commission report to frame a claim for assistance from the Federal Government. The report notes "a reinvestment by Canada of less than 1 per cent of the revenues received from our forest industries in the conservation of the forestry resources of this province," and suggests that "in view of the major contribution our forest industries make to the national economy in the domestic and international markets of the world, (the federal reinvestment) is not overly generous."

The significant finding of the eventual report will not be that British Columbia needs more money for its forest fire protection. That is obvious. The big question is: where will the money come from?

A New Pope Reigns

WITH THE ELECTION OF Angelo Cardinal Roncalli as Pope the Roman Catholic Church enters upon a new era. Quite apart from his ecclesiastical significance, the world has recognized Pope Pius XII as a leading statesman and a great influence for global peace. He reigned through nearly twenty eventful, often critical, years. There seems little indication that his successor, Pope John XXIII, will find world crises less frequent or world peace more sure.

The forces of materialism, both physical and ideological, continue to gain strength and confront organized religion with ever more serious problems. This is particularly true in Europe, where Communism and Catholicism have clashed in direct conflict; while in the world at large the turmoil of the twentieth century continually presents new challenges to old and established faiths.

Under such circumstances the Papacy constitutes a task for a man of many attainments and inner strengths. The world will wish the new incumbent well as he applies the powers of his office to the cause of peace. His lifelong training in administration and diplomacy should serve him in good stead.

Preliminary to a Beginning

MR. DAG HAMMARSKJOLD has sketched out the basic features of a projected United Nations peace force, but in such cautious terms that some observers were under the impression that the UN Secretary-General had rejected the whole idea. His plan represents his estimate of the most that could be agreed on in the present stage of international relations — and acceptability is the first essential of any such undertaking.

It falls far short of what many authorities — including Canadian spokesmen — have advocated: it is hardly even a police force, much less an army. Mr. Hammarskjold seeks nothing more than a plan on paper and a preliminary agreement among the members of the UN.

But his project would constitute the beginning of something permanent in place of the hit-or-miss emergency arrangement now in use. And as the innovator points out, it is far more likely that the nations will later build on this beginning than reverse themselves by abandoning it.

The plan calls for the General Assembly first to endorse certain general principles and rules as an "adaptable framework" for a peace force. The Secretary-General would then sound out the middle and small powers—the Big Five being excluded—to see how much they would be willing to contribute in men and materials in the event of need. It would then be up to the Assembly to agree on what further development would be feasible and wise.

In Mr. Hammarskjold's view, the force would be an instrument for mediation and conciliation rather than an enforcement agency. It would enter no nation's territory without consent; it would use only troops provided by member governments—there would be no individual recruitment of international brigades or soldiers of fortune.

It would never take the initiative in the use of force, but could defend itself against armed attack. It would take no part in civil wars or anti-colonial uprisings. And it would avoid even the appearance of a fighting army by having no general staff at UN headquarters.

The plan seems sufficiently innocuous to arouse little opposition, and it may well be that this very cautious approach could lay the foundation for an arrangement that will at least have firemen on call, if not on duty, in the face of a threatened conflagration.

Youth Speaks Up

A NANAIMO SERVICE CLUB, interested in youth, has taken the unusual, if obvious, means of securing information on adolescents. It asked teen-agers to speak to it on some of their problems.

The results were encouraging. One young lady advised her elders not to take all the spectacular propaganda of Hollywood, or the exceptional news-making stories of newspapers, as the basis for their judgments on youth.

Another reminded the group that all teen-agers are not hoodlums—a point so frequently missed when the activities of less than 10 per cent of their number are given the most notice.

And a third said young people today are full of ideals, desire to make a better world, but "must be told the truth about it."

In football vernacular, the young people up-island threw some very good forward passes. It is to be hoped the adult listeners were able to complete them.

It is to be hoped, also, that the clubmen left the meeting realizing a little more fully that the individuals collectively called youth are largely what adults make them.

"Mr. Deutsch said it would work..."

THE QUESTION OF THE UNTIMELY END

Now You Read It, Now You Don't

By B. A. TOBIN

A NEWS item announces that the young new writers of France, the avant garde men who seek to set new styles in literature and then push on to farther frontiers when the rest of the world has caught up to them, have adopted an entirely novel practice. They are writing stories about nothing, with no beginning and no end. The characters are only vaguely sketched in; the stories are without form or measure, signifying no doubt the chaotic, unformed state of the world or at any rate of the writer. One of the leaders, indeed, has written a novel which brings the reader up to the final climactic point only to leave him stranded. The last few pages of the book are blank.

Tobin

Now this sort of thing may be hailed as new and exciting. But to me it has an old and familiar ring. In fact, it takes me back to the "compositions" which we used to hand in to the teachers at South Park School in an earlier day—or even up to a somewhat later day.

These literary works, blotched a little with ink and bordered with thumb prints, seem in retrospect to have had all the qualities so admired now in the new French writing circles. They were about nothing, they had no beginning and no end, the characters were only vaguely sketched in, they were without form or measure. These shortcomings the teachers generously overlooked as they granted pass marks to the hopeful authors. But they were still recognized as shortcomings. Today they seem to have been raised to the eminence of virtues. "What is your novel about?" someone asks.

"Nothing. Absolutely nothing," beams the young French author. "Bravo!" cries the critic. "Superb! Magnificent!"

This willingness to boast about the paucity of ideas in his book may not be merely a new writing style among the authors, of course. It may represent a new regard for truth. The author who says his book contains nothing may be confessing rather than boasting — he may merely be indulging in a splurge of truthfulness which hitherto has not been fashionable.

But some, no doubt, are deliberately reducing their works to blankness, or at any rate causing confusion for the reader by leaving out the end.

Like many an abstract painting, this device may provide a convenient "out" for the creator. A painter who has trouble portraying hands or eyes might well find himself inclining to cubism, where the demands of draughtsmanship were not so exacting.

The writer who finds himself unable to think of answers, after the bulk of his book has been used to pose the questions, might well decide that a few artistically blank sheets at the end of the volume would be the happy solution to his problem.

But even the use of arbitrary and brutal censorship is not new to the world of letters. True, it has not been used extensively by writers, but it has been employed at will by printers.

News stories traditionally are written in such a manner that they can be lopped off at almost any point in order to fit the space available. The first sentence of the story should contain the pertinent facts regarding who, what, where, when and why. From then on further detail is added, in diminishing importance, until everything available has been told.

By cutting off the story at any point, therefore, the printer should not destroy its sense. But if the gist of the account were left until near the end it would run the risk of being deleted, thus rendering useless all that had gone before.

This is the theory and usually it works well. But not always.

There was a classic case in a Vancouver paper some years ago. The story was an account of a speech delivered by the publisher himself, and naturally it gave a wealth of detail. There was room for a column or more of it, but not for the complete story as set in type, so the printers had to cut some off.

Unfortunately the cut came immediately after a sentence which read: "But," said Mr. Publisher, "the really important point is this."

Readers never found out what the important point was, but the young new writers of France appear to have discovered and utilized the device with deliberate intent.

In future, when your book or magazine story comes to an unusually abrupt end, do not look farther for a continuation. It is the new literary style, and I don't see why it shouldn't be applied to newspaper columns as well as the

Anti-Semitism In the South

By MAX FREEDMAN
From Atlanta, Ga.

SINCE January, 1937, there have been 67 bombings or attempted bombings throughout the South, mostly directed against Negroes or their supporters. Not a single person as yet has received a jail sentence for any of these outrages.

Now comes the dynamite explosion at the Jewish Reform Temple in Atlanta a week ago. Over the past few months Jewish centres in Miami, Jacksonville and Nashville have been bombed. A Jewish temple in the north—at Peoria, Illinois—was also damaged by a crude bomb.

Is there any connection between the quarrel over segregation and the anti-Semitic outrages? Probably no one but the FBI can give a precise answer.

But those who are most familiar with the problem, both in Atlanta and wherever the appeal to religious and racial bigotry has manifested itself, are inclined to believe that there is no connection between segregation and anti-Semitism.

Risks Taken

Many Southern Jews are convinced supporters of continued segregation. Some Jews have taken risks in defending the unpopular Negro cause, but they have done so not as a religious group but as Americans.

What has happened in the South, it seems clear, is the result of many different influences. There is first the persistent abuse of the Supreme Court since 1954. The unpunished violation of Negro rights and property has set an ugly precedent for violence.

Many leading citizens and public officials have given their sanction to the campaign which has sometimes transformed state rights into state defiance. The growing power of the White Citizens' Councils has been an alarming symptom of organized intolerance.

In communities where it is popular to denounce the Negro it may be safe to bomb a Jew. In that limited sense alone does there appear to be any relationship between the two problems.

The bomb in Illinois was plainly the work of some fanatical group feeding on its own violent prejudices. There is nothing in the relationship between Jews and Gentiles in Peoria to give any rational explanation or excuse for the sudden violence.

Some one hundred conspiratorial figures, notorious for years in the anti-Semitic underworld, are said to be involved in the present bombing campaign with their network of intrigue in almost a dozen states.

Activities Known

The arrests lately made by the FBI indicate that these activities are known to the authorities. Numerous leaders of the White Citizens' Councils have been rebuked anti-Semitism as a crime against America, but anti-Semitic literature has been distributed on occasion at some of the councils' meetings in various parts of the South.

The Ku Klux Klan, as always, has its rancorous anti-Semitic element but the Klan has little power now.

Mr. Ralph McGill, editor of the "Atlanta Constitution," has collected a number of leaflets put out by the Christian Anti-Jewish party declaring that Jews are the leaders in the campaign to end segregation in Atlanta's public schools. One of the five men indicted for the bombing of the Atlanta temple has worked as an organizer for the White Citizens' Council.

These facts, however, are not sufficient to destroy the verdict that the anti-Semitic outrages are not an essential part of the segregation controversy, and are no more than an accidental and indirect product of it.

Representative leaders of the South, aware that the mere rumor of anti-Semitism may result in the flight of business, have reminded their communities that anti-Semitism, apart from being a shameful injustice, is a form of economic luxury which the South cannot permit.

This union of semi-interest and honor makes a strong shield against the spread of intolerance.

Many Results

Reaction in Atlanta includes the comment of Rabbi Rothchild, who said:

"The holocaust in this temple has had many results. First, it has lifted the curtain of fear which tied the tongues of so many citizens of the South. Suddenly it has become possible for us to say the things which we know we should say. We can utter with renewed meaning our prayer that we are grateful to God that he has kept us alive to see this day. We have found new unity and strength. Together, with an aroused humanity, we shall rear from the rubble of devastation a city and a land in which all men are truly brothers. None shall make them afraid."

October 10, incidentally, was set aside by the Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church for the reading of a pastoral letter in 7,000 pulpits across the United States urging Americans to respect the authority of law, to strive for a human brotherhood, and to believe that reason and justice can work out a solution of the segregation problem that will show all mankind that America really is without racial bigotry or differences.

As Our Readers See It

Infra Dig.

I am a visitor in your beautiful city from England. Let me say, however, that I am somewhat nonplussed about the furore in local papers regarding the Social Register.

We, in England, would never dream of indulging in so objectionable a project. The whole affair is disgraceful and infra dig and reflects upon the mentality of Canadians and their newspapers.

When I came west I never for a moment imagined that such snobbery would obtain here. Princesses and marquises whose names have never appeared in the Almanac de Gotha, seem to be as plentiful as Kentucky Colonels. Are they the real goods or what you Canadians call phonies?

Both Needed

Conceivably a man is absorbed in and dedicated to his calling whether it be music, medicine, the law or the church, etc.

Therefore the rift that occurred between Graham Steed and Dean Whitlow will by now surely have been closed forever within the precincts of a "house" they each and both serve.

Blessings be upon them and may they continue to give of the special talents with which they each are endowed.

We cannot dispense with either of these most eminent men, knowledgeable as they are in their special fields. Their audience know that together they will find an equation amounting to amity. This is one of the secure feelings one can have within the church and within Canada.

Quaker Relief

We shall be most grateful if you will give the following announcement publicity.

Members of the Society of Friends (Quakers) have resumed their collection of clothing, etc. for needy persons. Recently 22 sacks of good, used clothing, footwear, bedding, etc. were despatched from the Friends Meeting House, 1831 Fern Street (off Fort Street) to the Oxford Famine Relief Committee, Oxford, England, the director of which is a Friend.

Free transportation is available through the generosity of the Furness, Withy Line, and after arrival in England the clothing is sent to areas of need in various parts of the world. It has been possible to supply the need of some local Indians also and a few other needy persons, but the bulk of the clothing is shipped abroad.

In order to continue this work it is hoped that local sympathisers will continue to send in to the Meeting House any clean warm clothing which has at least six months wear, also footwear and bedding. Donations to help with the necessary expenses will be gratefully received by the Relief Secretary at the above address.

Library Contract

Residents of Oak Bay and other municipalities have the use of a large central public library in Victoria able to serve the various needs of readers with different tastes.

The municipalities in Greater Victoria have grown in population in recent years, and to provide them more equitable representation on the board of the library—a more equitable scale of sharing its costs, a new contract between the city and the municipalities was drawn up in 1956 after it was discussed in conferences and mooted in the press. This contract would alter the board membership from seven members from Victoria and four non-voting members from the municipalities to three members from Victoria and five from the municipalities, and would distribute the costs at 50 cents per capita of population, plus for any remainder, a charge according to the number of books taken out. Stability in the working was provided for by the contract being in force 13 years instead of the present right of withdrawal after a year's notice.

It is hoped no council will delay in signing the contract, now that the provincial legislature has obligingly abolished the need for a referendum; and that all will join in what was undertaken in the interest of all; and that none will be diverted, as by suggestions for a separate branch library, into getting the public to pay more for a lesser service when by pooling resources they can pay less for a larger service and a better one.

Afro-Asian Victory

NEW YORK—The special political committee of the General Assembly has, after a lengthy debate, passed a resolution expressing "regret and concern" over South African racial segregation.

Many people may regard this as several hundred thousand wasted words blown through the wind tunnel. What possible effect will it have on the government of South Africa to learn that the delegates in New York have expressed "concern"? But when you take a closer look you can find a wealth of meaning behind those two words "regret" and "concern."

Obviously they are mild words as contrasted with "condemn" which has been used in past years. This is significant because, for one thing, it shows that the Afro-Asians are showing greater understanding of the complexity of the South African problem and, indeed, the racial problem all over the world. (As a matter of fact, Indians will admit that their own caste system is a system of racial segregation imposed by Aryan conquerors some 3,000 years ago.)

Burke

But there's more to it than that. "Concern" and "regret" being mild words, the United States and Canada found that, instead of abstaining for the first time, they could support the resolution along with the Afro-Asians. This was most significant because it shows that the power of the Afro-Asians has become so great that they chose, rather than offend them, to vote against the colonial powers. The United Kingdom, France, Belgium and Portugal, all of whom have territories in Africa, opposed the resolution.

The Communist countries had said that they would not support the resolution unless it "condemned" the South Africans. The Afro-Asians refused to comply however (this was significant) and in the end the Russians backed down (rare and noteworthy) and voted alongside the Americans (even rarer and more noteworthy).

The behavior of the South Africans was also significant. This year they were back after boycotting the organization for two years because of its "interference" in what she regards as her domestic affairs. They didn't take part in the apartheid debate but they have shown that they are anxious to co-operate wherever possible.

For the Afro-Asians, this was their greatest success at the United Nations. When the first apartheid resolution was voted on in 1952, it was supported by 35 votes, 59 per cent of the total. This year the vote was 68 in favor, or 88 per cent. The vote was also significant because the Afro-Asians voted as a unified bloc, whereas the Commonwealth and NATO nations were split. This reversed the situation of earlier years.

The rise of Afro-Asian strength in the United Nations is one of the most important changes which has taken place in the world organization in the past 13 years. The balance will shift even further in the next few years as nations such as Guinea, Togoland, Nigeria, Cameroun and Italian and British Somaliland are admitted.

As a matter of fact, the U.S. state department is now undertaking a study on what this will mean to the American position in the United Nations. American delegates used to be able to hustle around before a vote, almost like party whips in parliament, and line up an almost unanimous vote of the non-Communist world.

"Let's have a nice big vote on this," U.S. delegates used to say—and they got it. But they don't now and it will be even more difficult in the future.

The view of most delegates is that this is a healthy thing for the United Nations and the world, and probably for the U.S. too. They feel it is already having a beneficial influence on U.S. policies and there's evidence of some softening in the Communist camp as well.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Chemist or Drug Store?

LONDON—Is the traditional English local chemist shop likely to turn into something akin to the North American corner drug store?

The powerful Chemists' Federation, with 10,000 members throughout the country, hints that they may be forced to do so.

Reason behind it is that the Restrictive Practices Court has just abolished the monopoly of federation chemists to sell many thousands of medicines on the market exclusively through their shops.

The grocers, who for years have been moving in on the chemists by selling such things as health salts, now have a huge new range of products opened up for them. Only poisons, not unnaturally, remain the monopoly of the chemists' shops.

"For the really small chemist," says the federation, "this is ruin. He doesn't make enough on National Health dispensing. He will have to go into the commercial field and fight grocers and others who can now sell medicines. We may have to adopt American drug store tactics to do this."

Reyburn

Not that Britain doesn't already have a version of the drug store. The big chain of Boots the Chemist has on view in its shops a wide variety of products outside medicines and toilet requisites. They range from stationery to jewelry and include, of all things, lending libraries. The only basic things missing from Boots that would otherwise make them drug stores are no soda fountain and they don't sell periodicals.

But not everywhere there is a branch of Boots. The majority of localities are still today served by the conventional English chemist shop and they have, as the English say, been on a good wicket, thanks to the monopoly on sales of medicines, which have a higher mark-up than most other products.

Now that they have been shorn of this monopoly it will be interesting to see which are the first American drug store influences that start infiltrating.

And so England changes...

Another change is that this country is now without a Life-type picture magazine.

First to model itself on Life was Picture Post (born 1938) and it died a couple of years ago. The second was Illustrated, which could well have folded at the same time but was kept going at a loss by its owners from profits elsewhere. But now it has been scrapped.

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Fall Time to Cut Steps in Terrace

There is a reason why some flights of steps are easy to negotiate while others take considerable effort to climb or descend.

The height of the steps and the width of the tread (front to back) make the difference.

For ease, the rise of each step should not exceed eight inches, nor should the tread be less than 10 inches.

Since the pleasure of walking around the garden lies in doing so with the least effort, and since steps in the garden are primarily for easy traversing of a steep grade or terrace, the design is important.

A step height of five to six inches and a tread width of 12 inches will be found most pleasing whether walking for pleasure or carrying a load of plants and tools.

Incidentally, you can give your garden steps an expansive and luxurious look by making them 36 inches or more from side to side, and then plant low growing material over the edges of the treads to soften the lines and give the illusion of even growth width.

Suitable plants are the prostrate conifers, heathers, creeping thymes, or even the creeping phloxes.

The best time to cut steps into a bank is when the soil is just moist enough to hold its shape. Too dry a soil will crumble while seepage becomes a problem once the soil is thoroughly wet.

It would seem in this area that fall offers the best opportunity for the job, with the added inducement that by spring you'll be ready to put the plants in and so obtain an almost immediate good-looking result.

TV BLAMED IN TOTS' 'HANGING'

Television has been blamed for "hangings" which have left rope scars on two of her children.

Mrs. Bettie Lowe, 631 Raynor, barely managed to save her four-year-old daughter Deborah the other day as the child hung a foot off the ground, children pulling on the other end of the rope.

And Tony, five, "could barely swallow for a week," after a similar experience earlier, she said.

Television is responsible for these happenings, said Mrs. Lowe.

"The worst children seem to watch it all the time, and they get some horrible ideas from it. There are parents who seem to have lost all control of their children. A few of these kids are monsters."

The Day YOU Were Born

LEONA GLORIA RICHARDSON is the young wife of Harry A. Richardson, and they are in the second month of wedded bliss at 907 Sioux Place.

Leona has been a receptionist almost since she graduated from Victoria High in 1957. She is a native Victorian.

On the day—that Leona was born:

Nazi forces were massed 1,250,000 strong against eastern borders. It was believed that Germany feared attack from Russia.

The U.S. were conducting a manpower lottery. Those whose class number came up in the draw would be drafted into the armed services. "Lucky" number this day was 158, the serial number of some six thousand young men registered for the draft.

Oak Bay prepared a great bonfire for Halloween, topped by an effigy of Hitler hanging from a gibbet.

Victoria lost a number of her native sons when HMCS Margaree was sunk three days before. One Victoria seaman, Francis Millan was first reported missing on the Margaree, but his distraught young wife, Mary, soon received another telegram saying it was all a mistake; Francis had been on a course in England and, not aboard the ill-fated ship. There were 34 survivors of the Margaree.

Ninotchka, the movie with Garbo laughing out loud, was showing at the Oak Bay, and Vivian Leigh and Lawrence Olivier were doing "21 days together" at the Plaza. Alley Oop was battling with a crocodile in ancient Egypt.

The date? Tuesday October 29, 1940. Young Mrs. Richardson is 18 today.

Another birthday we wish to honor is that of Susan Marivonne Thompson, 1298 Dallas Road, Victoria. Susan will have one candle on her cake today.

WHAT HAPPENED THE DAY YOU WERE BORN?

If your birthday occurs any time within the next four weeks, send your name, address, and birthdate to "Eventful Birthdays," c/o The Times. The first one received for any day will be featured.

Sask. Tories Pick Leader

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan Progressive Conservatives Tuesday chose a 36-year-old farmer and insurance man as their provincial leader to wind up their two-day annual convention.

Martin Pederson, who lives in Saskatoon and farms at Hawarden, 60 miles south of that city, was picked on the second ballot.

Gilbert Eamer, executive secretary of the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation, and M. A.

MacPherson Jr., Regina lawyer, were the other candidates. Mr. MacPherson was eliminated on the second ballot.

The new leader said he expects to call a convention early in 1959 to discuss party policy.

B.C. Labor Ready For 'War' in '59

United front shown by delegates to the B.C. Federation of Labor's third annual convention which wound up in Vancouver on the weekend was hailed Tuesday as an "example of good B.C. labor union teamwork" by Victoria union leaders.

REPLY TO LABOR:

'Nobody Ever Takes Blame' For Accident

The B.C. Motor Vehicles Branch is in "no position to say who is responsible" for accidents outlined in reports to car insurance companies, an official of the branch said Tuesday.

"You read the accident reports submitted by drivers and nobody ever is at fault."

The comment was in answer to criticisms delivered during a B.C. Federation of Labor convention at Vancouver on the weekend.

Spokesmen said the MVB gives insurance companies a record of all accidents whether or not a driver is to blame. The convention was told this often results in an innocent party paying increased rates for protection.

It was suggested at the convention a case may arise in which the owner of a parked car which is hit by another vehicle, could find his insurance rates increased as a result.

UNLIKELY

An official here said he felt this was unlikely. He said when insurance companies receive accident reports, "they might find other reasons" for penalizing the driver who feels he is in the right.

"We give them the information. We are not in position to say who was right or wrong. The insurance company may make further investigation, or be guided by subsequent police and court action."

The department spokesman said "in many cases the insurance companies know all about the accidents anyway, because of having paid claims on the vehicles involved."

Sloan Concludes 3-Month Inquiry

A three-month inquiry into one of the most controversial phases of the forest management licence system ended in Victoria Monday.

Forestry Commissioner Gordon Sloan conducted the probe into complaints by small loggers that holders of tree farm licences have an unfair advantage in bidding for Crown timber.

Representatives of more than 350 small and medium-sized logging firms presented briefs and arguments to Mr. Sloan.

With the exception of a two-week recess in August, Commissioner Sloan has held almost continuous hearings in Victoria and Vancouver.

COUNSEL THANKED

He wound up the lengthy session just after 5 p.m. Monday by thanking counsel for "your kind assistance in this inquiry." Argument on behalf of a group of sawmill operators in the B.C. interior was presented during the morning and afternoon by C. W. Brazier, QC.

Mr. Brazier opposed the small loggers' case—that tree farm (forest management) licences have an unfair advantage in bidding for crown timber.

He argued that the management licence system is important to the future of the lumber industry in the interior.

"The interior logging industry has not yet reached the stage of integration that has been reached on the coast," Mr. Brazier said.

Prominently represented in the case for the small loggers were the Western Forest Management Association and the Truck Loggers' Association, which have more than 300 members between them.

SUPER-SHOPPING AREA PROPOSED

PORT ALBERT—If preliminary negotiations are satisfactory, Port Alberni will have a $5,000,000 super-shopping area with construction to start in the spring.

In a letter to city council Monday, the firm of Margaret-Avey-Ready, Richmond, agent for Warner Holdings, Vancouver, made application for land bordered by 10th and Roger, Anderson and Wallace.

Intention was to build a super-market, specialty stores, medical and professional offices and a large hard-top parking area.

ACUTE PROGRAM EATEN UP FUNDS, SAYS MARTIN

Chronic Care Plan Dying

Increased hospital costs have "eaten up" provincial government funds which might have been used to implement a chronic care program in B.C.

But Health Minister Eric Martin, in making the report to B.C. Hospitals' Association at Vancouver Tuesday, said the government is not abandoning the plan.

A long-term chronic care program was introduced by the government two and a half years ago. It meant an extension of BCHS services to cover long-term chronic or rehabilitative cases in an approved chronic hospital.

It was up to the communities to furnish the hospital for such cases, aided by a provincial one-third grant.

"There has been so little activity in the construction of the facilities, it has been impossible to implement the plan," the minister stated.

"Now . . . increases in the cost of running our acute hospitals have literally eaten up the funds which might otherwise have been utilized . . ."

DOUBTFUL

He said the acute care program . . . is proving to be so costly, it is debatable whether or not we will be able to finance the undertaking of a chronic care plan."

He warned local hospital authorities, "services must be tailored to the amount of money available."

"Unless a more realistic concept is adopted throughout the hospital field in this province, I fear for what may be in store for the principle of hospital insurance coverage."

Till Hearing Delayed Week

Preliminary hearing of a murder charge against 16-year-old John Matthew Till was scheduled today to be adjourned for one week.

Till is accused of shooting his foster father, Charles E. Mudge, 38, at their home at 3460 Metchoin, on Sept. 13.

Prosecutor Kenneth Murphy said he expected to call key witness Mrs. Phyllis Mudge, wife of the victim, to the stand Nov. 6 or 7, after technical evidence is completed.

The hearing is being held before Magistrate A. I. Thomas in RCMP court in Victoria.

14 WITNESSES

On Tuesday, second day of the hearing, 14 of the Crown's 40 witnesses gave evidence.

One witness, a police handwriting expert from Regina RCMP crime laboratory, introduced three letters which appeared linked to the accused.

Cpl. Anton Zitzelsberger said the handwriting on the three brief letters—done in pencil on small sheets of notepaper—was the same as in two other handwriting specimens given to him.

One letter apparently concerns Mrs. Mudge, who was beaten the day Mudge and his father-in-law, John Brand, 71, were shot dead.

"REALLY AM SORRY"

Cpl. Zitzelsberger said the first letter was addressed, "Dear Phyll," and read in part, "Phyll, please believe me, I really am sorry for what I have done."

In another part it said, "I don't even remember what I did..." and still further, "I had too much rum yesterday, I guess."

The second letter was brief and read:

"Dear Coline: Well, I guess we'll never have that life together. I love you so much and you had to leave me. Oh, dear, est, please forget me. I'll remember you always. Love, Johnny."

The third letter appeared to be a will:

"Mom, Dad, Curtis, Dear Family: Please forgive me for what I have done. My last will and testimony: I, Johnny Till, leave all my belongings to my brother Curtis."

BY SAME PERSON

The witness said he compared the handwriting in the three notes with the other specimens which were handed over to him by another RCMP officer.

Cpl. Zitzelsberger said it was his opinion they were all written by the same person.

The notes were not entered as exhibits, but were filed for later identification.

Cons. Gordon S. Irvine, of Colwood RCMP detachment, told the hearing he had gone to the Mudge house in response to a radio call at 8:55 p.m. Sept. 13 and found the house in darkness.

Because of that, he said, he was not sure at first he had the right house.

But he went in with neighbor William Neil and they found the bodies.

"There was no doubt about it. They were both dead."

MET MRS. MUDGE

He went to the Neil house to telephone for help and encountered Mrs. Mudge being assisted by Mrs. Neil and her sister-in-law. Mrs. Mudge was cut, swollen and bleeding from a beating.

Cons. Irvine described the Mudge house as he had found it, five of its rooms and the basement bearing bloodstains.

One of the kitchen bloodstains was in the form of a handprint and on a basement stair was a bloody footprint, the constable told the hearing. The kitchen was littered with broken glass extending partly into the hall. He said he thought it was from a broken milk bottle as he had seen a milk bottle cap amongst the litter.

There were various garments bearing blood stains in both a bedroom on the main floor and in the basement.

Near where Mudge's body was found in the basement were two large pools of blood, one more than six feet in diameter, the other about the same size. Cons. Irvine said.

Under cross-examination by defence counsel Joseph McKenna, the constable said he had seen an empty rum bottle in a kitchen cupboard.

NO LIQUOR SMELL

"How close were you to Mrs. Mudge?" Mr. McKenna asked.

"I was hanging onto her, sir," the witness said.

"Did you notice any smell of liquor on her breath?"

"No."

A number of items picked up by Const. Robert King at the Mudge house, included a telephone set with its wires frayed.

There also was a bottle which contained a yellowish, cloudy fluid and bore Till's fingerprints, and a rum bottle bearing Mudge's prints.

Criticism 'Nonsense'... Pearkes

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Pearkes Tuesday termed "nonsense" the criticism of Canadian defence policy voiced Monday night by Maj-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, former army adjutant-general.

"General Macklin just doesn't make any sense," Mr. Pearkes told reporters.

In a biting speech to Young Progressive Conservative Association here, Gen. Macklin had said Canada's defence policy has made this country a "satellite" of the United States and the RCAF a "handmaiden" of the USAF.

"The U.S. needs our bases and air space and we need the help of U.S. financing," Mr. Pearkes said. "So this makes continental defence a partnership."

Canada was "a full-scale partner, never a satellite."

from "Mr. Carpetorium"

At this time the householder is perhaps more anxious than usual about the damage caused to valuable rugs by the larvae of carpet beetles. Recent news items have brought about a carpet beetle scare, but the public should be advised that this condition is not any more serious than usual, and always exists to some degree.

It is wise, however, to inspect your rugs regularly, for the carpet beetle likes to lay its eggs where the larvae can feed on the fine fibres of your rugs. The damaged area is quickly detected and may be identified as carpet beetle damage by the light brown residue around the area. There are many simple methods of protecting your rugs against this pest and many other destructive causes.

The Carpetorium will be pleased to answer any questions you wish to ask, just phone EV 3-2861. We will be pleased to call at your home, without any obligation, and inspect your rugs for carpet beetle larvae, moths and other pests. Our free advice and information on rug care will add many years of beauty and wear to your carpets.

13 Miners Killed In 2nd U.S. Blast

SUMMERSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — An explosion deep within a southeastern West Virginia coal mine snuffed out the lives of 13 miners Tuesday and injured four others, two of them critically.

Personal Effort Needed for Peace Kiwanis Club Told

The need for basing world peace on each individual and not relying on decisions of statesmen was described to Kiwanis members Tuesday. World traveller and master mariner George Veres, 130, Kingston, told the club members at luncheon in the Empress Hotel, not to "expect too much of our statesmen."

"We do not always find it easy to be peaceful in our own private lives," he said, "and peace in the world needs constant and positive striving."

Mr. Veres gave a summary of some of the recent crises in the Middle East, based on his experiences in the countries involved.

Among the dead were the superintendent and assistant superintendent of the mine. Thirty-seven others working nearer the entrance managed to escape unharmed.

It was the second mine explosion in two days in the West Virginia coal fields and brought the total dead to 35. Monday, 22 miners died when trapped gas ignited in a Pocahontas Fuel Company mine on the Virginia-West Virginia border near Bishop, about 90 miles southwest of here.

Last week 174 miners were trapped in a disaster at Springhill, N.S. Twenty-two bodies were recovered with 71 still missing. Eighty-one others escaped.

There was no immediate explanation for Tuesday's blast.

Pakistan had 195,000 acres under tobacco crop in the 1957-58 season, compared with 183,000 acres the previous season.

City Man Acquitted On Charge of Theft

A Victoria man convicted of Cumberland of the theft of $15.70 from a Vancouver appliance firm had the sentence of three months quashed in Court of Appeal here last week.

Charge against Jack Aylward Mooney, 32, of 822 Bay, was one of 12 totalling $216 laid against him by an agent for Ford Household Appliances, where he was employed as salesman.

They involved deposits paid to him by persons intending to buy vacuum cleaners.

All 12 charges against Mooney were dropped in RCMP special court here Saturday after the crown presented no evidence. Crown action followed an investigation into laying of the charges, requested by defence counsel David Hummel.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas said dropping of the charges completely vindicated Mooney.

Mooney faced charges in Vancouver, Kamloops and Cumberland as well as in Victoria. He was acquitted on five, sentenced to three months in Cumberland on one in which he was granted a new trial and acquitted, and six remained to be heard when the charges were dropped Saturday.

Business ethics of the company were sharply criticized by the Kamloops magistrate, when he found Mooney not guilty.

DENTAL CARE BUDGET PLAN

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta Dental Association plans to inaugurate a dental plan under which Alberta residents may pay for their dental services on a budget plan.

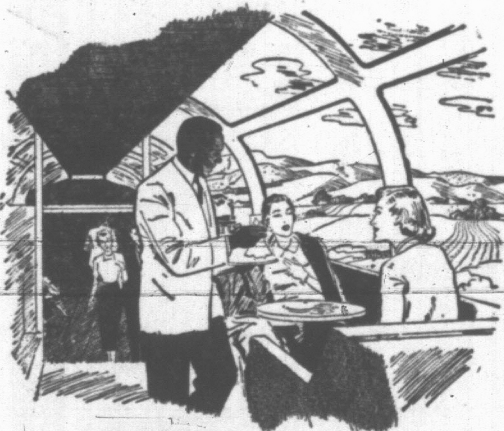

Dr. H. N. Knight of Edmonton said the project still is in its planning stages and may not be available to the public until early 1959.

Nuclear Power Plant Planned for Antarctic

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (Reuters)—The United States has approved but not yet granted the money for construction of a nuclear power plant at McMurdo Sound in the Antarctic, Rear Admiral George Dufek, commander of the U.S. Navy's operation "deep freeze," said Tuesday.

IMPRISONED FOR MERCY SLAYING

Loving Father Kills Child

LONDON (AP)—A prison employee described as a "father in a million" has been sentenced to three years imprisonment for the mercy killing of his 11-year-old daughter.

Several jurors wept Monday as the 47-year-old father, William Moodie, was committed to Durham Prison, the institution in which he had been a warder. Witnesses testified that he was deeply devoted to his daughter, Patricia, and that he had cared for her tenderly. An epileptic since she was three, she could not walk or feed herself and could speak only a few words, the court was told.

When Moodie's wife became ill recently, the full responsibility for caring for the child fell on him. He drugged the child, then smothered her in an act of despondency after years of strain, his lawyer said.

IRISH REBEL BOMBERS HID IN CONFESSION BOX

BELFAST (Reuters)—Three men found hiding in a confession box in a Roman Catholic cathedral after a bomb had been placed at a nearby police station each were sentenced Tuesday to 14 years imprisonment. The men were found in possession of 49 pounds of explosive, 81 rounds of ammunition, detonators and fuses.

College Expansion Plans Go Ahead

Planning for new additions to public works department officials, Arnold Webb, said plans for the 63,000 square foot library will take nine months to complete.

The council is negotiating with the federal government to purchase defence department land at Gordon Head, but in the meantime will draw plans for the library and other additions to the college plant, hoping for a start on construction next year or in 1960.

Kangaroos have reached plague proportions in Australia, reducing vegetation needed for cattle and sheep.

Estimated cost for the library is $1,250,000.

The college council announced today refused to accept the Nobel Prize for literature. He referred in refusal to "the society I live in."

The text of a cable to this effect was released here today by Dr. Anders Oesterling, permanent secretary of the Royal Swedish Academy, which awards the literary Nobel prizes.

It reads: "Because of the meaning attributed to this award in the society I live in I ought to say no thanks to the undeserved prize awarded me."

"Do not take my voluntary refusal with any ill will."

Oesterling said that last Saturday he received a cable from Pasternak expressing his gratitude at the Nobel award.

"That cable read: 'Immensely thankful, touched, proud astonished, abashed.'"

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS CHIEF TO VISIT LATIN AMERICA

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Smith will pay a 10-day visit to Brazil in November and later spend four or five days in Mexico, it was announced Tuesday.

It will be the first formal visit by a Canadian external affairs minister to Latin America.

Russian Author Turns Back Award

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Soviet author Boris Pasternak today refused to accept the Nobel Prize for literature. He referred in refusal to "the society I live in."

The text of a cable to this effect was released here today by Dr. Anders Oesterling, permanent secretary of the Royal Swedish Academy, which awards the literary Nobel prizes.

It reads: "Because of the meaning attributed to this award in the society I live in I ought to say no thanks to the undeserved prize awarded me."

"Do not take my voluntary refusal with any ill will."

Oesterling said that last Saturday he received a cable from Pasternak expressing his gratitude at the Nobel award.

"That cable read: 'Immensely thankful, touched, proud astonished, abashed.'"

In this week's Post —

Pasternak is the author of the novel Doctor Zhivago, which is critical of communism, and has been under rigorous attack in the Soviet press since the award announcement was made.

Pasternak has also been expelled from the Soviet Writers' Union and deprived of the title of Soviet writer.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Pasternak was expelled because his activities were "incompatible with the name of Soviet writer. It went on to say the decision to expel him was taken in view of his "political and moral fall, his treason with regard to the Soviet people, the cause of socialism, peace and progress paid for by a Nobel Prize in order to intensify the cold war."

PRESS REACTS

Pasternak was named for the award last week and the Soviet press asserted the selection was an anti-Soviet political manoeuvre.

Pravda, the official Communist party paper, heaped abuse on Pasternak and Doctor Zhivago. It said he should reject the $41,420 cash prize if there were "a spark of Soviet dignity left in him."

The Nobel Prize Committee awarded the prize in physics Tuesday to three Soviet scientists—P. A. Cherenkov, I. M. Frank and Igor E. Tamm.

The Soviet press today said the physics award was fitting, but at the same time it said it proved that the award for literature was dictated by "reactionary political aims."

Sinclair Oil, British Firm Sign Agreement

NEW YORK (AP) — Sinclair Oil Corp. has announced a far-reaching agreement with British Petroleum Co. Ltd. that will give Sinclair access to Middle East crude oil and British Petroleum Co. a crack at the big U.S. oil market.

The agreement also will put British Petroleum in the oil exploration and production business in Latin America.

Sinclair, one of the largest U.S. refiners and marketers of oil, has no source of supply in the petroleum-rich Middle East. British Petroleum, which produces oil in Iraq, Kuwait, Iran and Ostar, lacks a U.S. sales outlet.

Fines May Be Answer

Late Comeback Gives Chihawks Tie With Habs

By The Canadian Press
Don't be surprised if National Hockey League managers go on a fine-levying spree this season. It certainly works on Chicago Black Hawks.

Hawks dropped a 9-1 decision against the league-leading Canadiens in Montreal last Thursday and general manager Tommy Ivan promptly fined each of his 18 players $100 for the poor showing.

Tuesday night Hawks protected their pocketbooks with a tremendous third-period comeback to tie the Canadiens 5-5 and end a four-game losing streak. The tie boosted the Chicagoans into a four-way tie for second place with New York Rangers, Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins.

The Hawk line of Bobby Hull, Ron Murphy and Eric Nesterenko ran away with all the honors in a sensational finish, scoring three goals in three minutes and 14 seconds. The trio played the last six minutes of the game without a rest.

OPEN WITH 2-0 LEAD

Chicago opened with a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by Dollard St. Laurent, who played for Montreal last season, and Hull. The Canadiens struck back with three in the second period and two more in the first half of the third to stack up a 5-2 lead.

It looked dismal for the home club before the Hull-centred line suddenly erupted.

At 14:05 Murphy tipped in a long hard shot by Hull. Forty seconds later Murphy made it 5-4.

The equalizer came at 17:19 when Hull soared it with a Murphy pass and beat Montreal goalie Jacques Plante cleanly. Nesterenko was credited with helping set up all three goals.

Canadien scorers were Henri Richard and Boon Boom Geoffrion, with two each, and Don Marshall. Henri and Geoffrion are top NHL scorers with 12 points. Next come Maurice Richard and Jean Beliveau, who picked up an assist each against Chicago, with 12.

Tonight Canadiens visit Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins meet the Rangers in New York.

AHL Attempting To Put Teeth In Recall Clause

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Representatives of the American Hockey League's six clubs met today to put teeth into a clause governing emergency recall of players by teams in higher classification circuits.

Although the meeting was closed, a spokesman said the AHL is attempting to take action to prevent what it believes is excessive shuffling of players between leagues.

One proposal under discussion, the spokesman said, is that any player called up by a higher classification team and then returned would have to remain with the lower classification team 14 days before he could be summoned by a parent club again.

HARRINGAY ARENA . . . BECOMES WAREHOUSE

From Pugilists to Produce

LONDON (AP)—The last bell for all time has rung at Harringay Arena.

The last two pugilists, a pair of end-of-the-bell hackers, finished their inept work Tuesday night and 11,000 fans left the old fight parlor, some singing Auld Lang Syne and some of the toughest of them showing a tear or two.

Waiting nearby was a fleet of trucks loaded with canned goods, boxed foods and produce. Harringay will now be a warehouse for provisions, as long as anyone can foresee.

Denny's Dream Defence Nightmare for Cougars

Riggin Shuts Out Cats; Flyers Take Top Spot

Edmonton 4, Victoria 0

By DOUG PEDEN

Denny Riggin never had it so good. Even after 10 games of the current Western Hockey League season, the curly-haired cutie who looks after the goaltending department for Edmonton Flyers still pinches himself before his morning cup of coffee just to make sure he isn't dreaming overtime.

Three shutouts and a goals-against average of only 1.8 in those 10 games seems just too good to be gospel. But it's true, Denny's in the club. And as long as Bud MacPherson, Hugh Coffin, Dave Amadio and Lou Maroon remain hale and hearty, the 22-year-old, 156-pounder's going to be knee deep in the stuff.

Riggin, who won all-star honors in the league's Prairie Division last season, modestly tries to give his buddies credit for the Flyers' amazing defensive record, but there's no doubt that Denny is the hottest piece of goaltending machinery around the WHL.

Victoria Cougars are the latest team to learn first-hand about the efficiency of the men who guard the Edmonton goal.

Playing before 2,290 Memorial Arena fans Tuesday night, the Cats became Riggin's third whitewash victims as they were able to barge past the muscular blue-line quartet for only 15 shots on goal.

Cougar Spark Died in Final Period

While Cougar forwards were banging their heads against a brick wall, Flyer attackers scooted around the Victoria defence for 39 shots against Marcel Pelletier, who, for a while at least, owns the WHL record of eight shutouts in one season. Gerry Melnyk was Pelletier's most persistent tormentor. The smooth centre scored Edmonton's first and fourth goals. In between he set up scoring plays for Amadio and Murray Oliver.

Outplayed by wide margins in the first and final session, the Cougars earned an even share of second-period exchanges and at times it appeared they might break through the Riggin ramparts. They came close on three or four occasions and it took a combination of bad luck and Riggin acrobatics to keep them off the scoresheet. The Victoria line of Al Nicholson, Gordon Haworth, and Stan Baluk was in for several good chances and a goal during the scoreless middle session might have spurred the Cats into an all-out drive down the home stretch. But the spark died in the final period and the Victorians managed only two shots on goal in that stanza.

Victory moved Edmonton past Saskatoon into first place in the league's Prairie Division, while Victoria remained deadlocked with Spokane in the runner-up spot of the Coast Division, five points back of Seattle.

Pat Wasn't in Mood for Kind Words

"I never thought a goalie could have things this good," Riggin said after the game. "Coffin and MacPherson are a couple of real pros and those kids don't have to take a back seat to any defencemen in the league."

"They're sure making things easy for me. They're stopping half the shots themselves and I've only been having 18 or 19 saves a game. It may not last, but so far it's wonderful."

Coach Pat Egan didn't have any such kind words for the Cougars.

"The whole team played poorly," he said. "I don't know what's got into them, but if we had the players, I'd have four other defencemen out there in our next game."

The next game is at Seattle, Friday night. The Cats move into Spokane Saturday and return to Memorial Arena against Saskatoon next Wednesday.

Judging from Egan's scowls, unless the Cougars regain the drive and spirit that carried them through a four-game unbeaten streak previous to defeats in their last two starts, there may be a new name or two on the Victoria roster come next Wednesday.

KELOWNA'S SHAME?

KELOWNA (CP) — The Board of Trade is "ashamed" that Kelowna has not met its share of expense money for the Packers hockey team's exhibition tour of Russia.

Efforts to raise $10,000 here for the tour have met with dismal failure, board member A. R. Pollard said Tuesday.

"I'm ashamed to admit that local businessmen have contributed exactly $375," he said.

The city's share in costs to send Packers, of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League, to Sweden and Moscow for a nine-day exhibition tour next month was $10,000. Of that amount, the provincial government has contributed $2,500. The total was raised to $4,000 by other British Columbia sources.

"We're going to be awfully embarrassed when we have to say at the last minute that we haven't been able to raise the necessary funds," said Mr. Pollard.

THIRD TIME LAST TIME FOR HARD-LUCK METRO?

Hard-luck Metro Prystai may have reached the end of the hockey trail.

Prystai, who played 10 seasons in the National Hockey League with Chicago and Detroit, broke the same leg below the knee on two occasions last winter. Tuesday's fracture was through one of the breaks of last season.

Reports from Royal Jubilee Hospital this morning indicated Prystai is in satisfactory condition and that no complications are expected. However, it is probable that the stylish winger will be advised not to risk breaking the leg for a fourth time.

ROYALS TRIPPED, 8-5

'Peg Club Feeling Much Better Now

(From CP Reports)

One game doesn't make up a season, but it would seem that the last-place team in the Western Hockey League's Prairie Division is a trifle stronger than the coast's cellar-dwellers.

Winnipeg Warriors proved the point Tuesday night, building up an early lead and then holding on for an 8-5 victory over New Westminster Royals.

Barry Ross topped Winnipeg scorers with two goals while singles went to Jerry Brison, Ray Brunel, Billy Mosienko, Steve Witluk, Bob Chrysal and Dick Lamoureux.

Gordon Fashaway, with two; Arlo Goodwin, Hugh Barlow and Richie Van Impe tallied for Royals.

Warriors held a 3-1 lead after the first period and increased it to 7-2 after 40 minutes. They were forced to hang on as New Westminster caught fire in the last session to outscore Winnipeg 3-1 before 2,651 fans.

DEBUT SPOILED

Don Campbell, new Royal netminder from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., seniors, had a rough debut in pro hockey as the Royal defence fell apart in the early stages and the Winnipeg forwards coasted in almost at will.

Despite the eight goals that eluded him, the youthful netminder had some brilliant saves. He stopped 27 shots to 25 by Winnipeg's Ray Mikulan.

Junior swimmers are expected to write another chapter in the Oak Bay High School aquatic success story at the Crystal Garden, Thursday.

Oak Bay is heavily favored to retain its team title in competition against seven other schools in the 33rd annual junior schools' swimming gala, which is again sponsored by the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club.

Splashes from Oak Bay captured the senior schools' title for the eighth successive time last Friday.

The Oaks will send a squad of 36 swimmers to the post Thursday. Other schools entered are Colquitz (42 swimmers), Lansdowne (41), Central Junior (32), S. J. Willis (32), Belmont (20), Norfolk House (11) and St. Ann's Academy (8).

The 16-event program will start at 4 p.m.

Coast League Fails to Name New Entrants

SPOKANE, Wash. (CP) — Directors of the Pacific Coast Baseball League discussed possible realignment of the league Tuesday but failed to name any new entrants before ending their fall meeting.

Dave Rowe, league publicity director, said a number of cities were considered but "nothing definite" was done.

The directors approved a resolution Monday to expand to 10 or 12 teams "when suitable cities are available," but said expansion is not imminent. President Leslie O'Connor said he is dubious about any expansion soon.

An Edmonton entry was among the list discussed by directors. Vancouver is now the only Canadian member of the eight-team loop.

ANOTHER SLANT

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—College football coaches have a snap, John Law said today, compared to the days when he coached at Sing Sing.

"They never lose a player because he 'graduates' a day before the big game. And a confidence man is still a 'con man' when he gets a chance to 'rig' the points for a betting coup."

"Of course," the captain of the undefeated 1929 Notre Dame team admits, "we never had any training problem because the only bars were on the windows."

But John Law, who was captain and played guard in front of the great Irish backfield of Frank Carideo, Marchie Schwartz, Marty Brill and Joe Savoldi, had his problems.

"My assistant coach was a 'con' man serving a long stretch and one day I was late for a game and he was running the team," Law reminisces. "I arrived at halftime and we were leading 6-0 in a game where we were favored by four touchdowns."

The "con man," as it developed, had taken all the bets he could book from his 2,800 fellow convicts—and was holding down the score by playing third-stringers to win all the bets he had booked.

"I took over and we won by plenty," Law laughs. "But we had to put the 'con man' into isolation for a month to save him from his fellow inmates."

One of Law's Sing Sing stars, along with Alabama Pitts, was a fullback named Moon Byrd whom John describes as "the closest thing I've ever seen to Marion Motley."

"Visitors naturally were precious to these men," Law says, "and when a convict had a visitor, his number was announced over the loud-speaker system so he could get up to the reception hall."

"Well, during one close game," he added with a chuckle, "Byrd had intercepted a pass on the five-yard line and was going down the sidelines to what looked like a touchdown. Just then the loud-speaker announced he had a visitor—and he lateraled off to a guard and ran right off the field. The guard tumbled and we lost the game, 6-0."

Law, who now handles special accounts for a brewery, coached at Sing Sing from 1932 through 1935 and feels that his work there did much good.

"They were big, tough gorillas," he grins, "but they played the cleanest football you've ever seen. And one of my boys became so interested in football that after he got out he taught his son the game—and the kid is playing end this season for an eastern college."

There was one exception, he admits, to the "clean" play of his walled-in warriors.

That was during their "big game"—against the Port Jervis police department.

"One of my tackles was a guy I'll call 'George,'" Law remembers. "He had been a part-time policeman in the Port Jervis area and they trapped him in a bad deal and he was sent up on a 20 to 40-year rap."

"George figured he had received a bad deal and playing in the line right across from him in the game against the Port Jervis police was the officer who had sent him up."

Both teams, Law laughs, played with 10 men that day. George and his opponent across the line spent the afternoon "working each other over to a fare-thee-well while the game went on merrily around them."

"It was," he says, "a two-man riot."

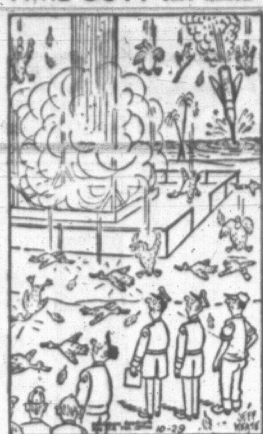

Home-Ice Debut For Ed Chadwick

TORONTO (UPI)—Toronto Maple Leaf coach Billy Reay says Ed Chadwick will replace Johnny Bower in goal for the Leafs when they meet the Montreal Canadiens at Toronto to night.

"I hadn't planned to make him play his first game at home, but we have to start him somewhere," Reay said, "and he always played well against the Canadiens here last year." Reay indicated he may also use defenceman Noel Price for the first time, benching Tim Horton or Steve Kraftcheck. He also plans to reunit Bobby Baun with Marc Reaume to form a third defence pair.

TIME OUT! JEFF KEATS

"One consolation... We have a duck dinner for the whole missile crew!"

PLAYOFF SATURDAY

Navy Juniors Face Bombers

The cautious approach may pay off. At a first glance, it would appear Navy Rams are sending an "extra-strong" team against Vancouver Blue Bombers in the provincial junior football final.

The sudden-death game will be played Saturday afternoon at Macdonald Park. The winners, of course, move into the Western Canada semifinals against the Alberta champions the following week.

There are several good reasons why some of the city's football followers consider Navy as one of the best junior teams ever assembled in Victoria.

First and foremost is Navy's record. The under-21 Tars, coached by John Bando and Bill Paterson, are unbeaten in six starts this season.

SOLID DEFENCE

In four of those games, they haven't been scored upon and only one team—Mayo Vampires—has managed to cross Rams' goal-line for a touchdown.

Offensively, Navy has averaged almost 25 points a game with such standouts as Norm Woodcock, Barry Glover, Bruce Baxter and Fred Toth carrying the ball.

Navy's latest victory was a 38-0 conquest of a Chilliwack Army team.

Despite their record, team manager Lt.-Cmdr. John Dikken ran up a warning flag.

CAREFUL, NOW!

"Before anyone gets carried away, they should consider the fact that our competition this season hasn't been very strong. Lack of good competition could hurt us," he said.

The juniors have tried to offset that by scrimmaging against Navy's intermediate club.

If the Navy squad works as a unit, Dikken said, Blue Bombers could very easily be in for a big surprise Saturday.

Packers' Big Gun Still Firing Away

(From CP Reports)

The steady sniping of Moe Young is keeping Kelowna Packers well in front of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League.

The league's top marksman scored one goal—his 11th of the season—for the Packers Tuesday as they edged Penticton 5-2-1.

Vernon Canadians clipped the Kamloops Chiefs 5-2 in another Okanagan tussle, while at Rossland the Trail Smoke Eaters whipped Rossland Warriors 10-5 in a Western International League match.

Gerry Goyer scored the other Packer marker and Bob Chorley replied for the V's, getting a breakaway goal two minutes after the Packers' second.

At Kamloops, captain Johnny Harms led Canadians' attack with two goals, while Merv Bidoski, Odie Lowe and Frank King scored singles. Rookies Clifford Bristowe and Ken Harris scored Chiefs' goals.

At Rossland, Alf Tambellini scored three goals and assisted on another to lead Trail before 462 fans.

Alouettes' Ace Ready to Play

MONTREAL (UPI)—Club doctors have declared that the Alouettes' injured end Hal Patterson is "fit to play" Saturday in Toronto, against the Argonauts.

General manager Gorman Kennedy, of the Big Four Football Union Club, said the final decision on Patterson would be left to the coach, Doug "Pea-head" Walker and his aides.

"He's been working out and running a few pass patterns," said Kennedy. "He says he is ready and wants to go, but the final decision will be left up to the coaches."

Patterson has missed the last six games because of torn ligaments in his knee. He also sustained a shoulder injury in pre-season workouts and suffered two concussions

Canada-U.S. Relationships Much Improved

NEW YORK (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker says there have been "tremendous changes" for the good in Canadian-United States relationships during the last year.

The Canadian leader, in a speech Tuesday night to the Pilgrims Society dinner, said that with the existing unity between the two countries, Canadian-American problems "will never be insoluble."

He referred to his speech 14 months ago at Dartmouth College, in New Hampshire, in which he had detailed a list of Canadian grievances over U.S. trade and economic policy.

"Tonight I feel reassured that beneficial changes have taken place."

U.S. State Secretary Dulles, also addressing the dinner, took the same optimistic view.

"If our two nations have their differences, let us not aggravate them or exaggerate them," Dulles said. "They are insignificant in comparison with what unites us."

The prime minister, who spoke only a few hours after embarking from Ottawa on a 54-day world trip, also called for a new international effort to overcome world poverty and bring new hope to hungry peoples.

"You cannot fill the stomachs of those who stand against communism by telling them about the benefits of parliamentary democracy, without doing something to assuage that hunger."

CALLS ON DAG

Today the prime minister made an informal call on UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld before leaving by air for London.

The speech by State Secretary Dulles contained a blunt offer to the Russians: they can have details of U.S. defence dispositions in the Arctic provided the Soviet Union is willing to reciprocate.

Harold Beckwith Funeral Set For Saturday

Funeral services will be held Saturday, at 3 p.m., for Harold Arthur Beckwith, 69, well-known Victorian, who died Tuesday afternoon in the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Conducting the service at McCall Brothers Funeral Chapel will be Rev. G. R. Easter. Interment will be in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Mr. Beckwith was senior partner in the law firm of Beckwith & Horne and was known to thousands of Victorians for his work in music, sports, politics, service club and church affairs.

GYRO ORIGINAL

He was a charter member and first president of the Gyro Club, president of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club and Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association. Born and educated in Victoria and a graduate of McGill University, he practised law in Victoria from 1914 until his recent retirement owing to ill health.

He served as president of the Arion Club and Victoria Musical Festival Association. At one time he was conductor of the choir at Fairfield United Church.

Mr. Beckwith was prominent as a labor disputes conciliator just after the Second World War and was inventor and editor of the condensed annual revisions of British Columbia Statutes, published as "Beckwith's Annotations".

He was the eldest son of the late John L. Beckwith, a former mayor of Victoria.

He is survived by the widow, Margaret Alice, at 1149 Oliver Street; two daughters, Mrs. Geoffrey A. Vantreight, Jr., of Gordon Head, and Mrs. B. G. Dymoney, of Vancouver; one son, John Beckwith, of Toronto; one sister, Mrs. F. J. White, of Florida, and 11 grandchildren.

'Magnifico' Coveted Bond Award

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

British Columbia may not win the "piscatorial magnifico" this year. And if it doesn't the fault may well lay with 600 miners at United Keno.

The "magnifico" is a mounted fish. Dollar wise it isn't worth the power to blow it to cloud nine. Prestige-wise, it's worth millions.

Every year since 1946, the "magnifico" has gone to the provincial team of Canada Savings Bond "salesmen" who write the largest amount of CSB bonds.

B.C. has won the (cold) fish twice. The first win came in 1953 through the ingenuity of one of the members of the B.C. sales team, Dean Mann, one of the current B.C. nine-man team, told about it in Victoria this week.

"One of our boys, Ken Madden, spent hours trying to figure if there were any untapped markets we could capitalize on to top wealthy Ontario and Quebec."

"Pouring over the map, he discovered that the United Keno mine, 35 miles out of Mayo in the Yukon, had never been given the Canada Savings Bond pitch."

"He flew up to Whitehorse, carrying a briefcase full of information and visions of miners weighing him down with Canada Savings Bond$ pledges."

"What he didn't know was that travelling by auto in the north in winter is a sometime thing. Sometimes you get to your destination—if the roads don't go into hibernation—and other times you get there after you wait for ice bridges to be built over the frozen rivers."

FANTASTIC TOTAL

"Finally he made it. The miners couldn't believe that they could get interest on their payroll deductions for Canada Savings Bonds. The banks wouldn't pay interest—the money the miners put in savings hardly had time to cool before they spent it. So they deluged Madden. He wrote the fantastic total of $532,800 in bonds—four times as great as the national average—and we won the 'piscatorial magnifico'."

Since then the United Keno investors, none of whom make less than about $600 per month pulling silver, lead and zinc out of a hole in the ground, have been less thrifty. Subsequent CSB series drew steadily falling subscriptions of $170,000 down to $30,000.

This year Mr. Mann did everything but the dance of the seven veils in a vain attempt to show the United Keno boys that there is real lode in Canada Savings Bonds.

"Our first report shows only $20,000 subscribed," said Mr. Mann, who is apparently an ineffective dancer through a solid salesman.

He puts the blame for the decreasing lack of enthusiasm at United Keno on the personnel turnover.

"I know it's not lack of money. They're standing up to their armpits in it. After all a man doesn't go up to that country unless he wants to evade the law, his wife or to make a quick stake. But nowadays they make it quick and leave just as quickly."

Mr. Mann recalls other days when money was more plentiful in other places. He was the first CSB man to go into Kemano when construction crews were building the Nechako dam and giant power plant half a mile inside a mountain.

"I nearly cried when I arrived there and was told that the company wouldn't make payroll deductions. They wouldn't even let me go in the bunkhouses at night. There was money all over the place—some of the gambling stakes were unbelievably high. Finally, they gave me a small shack as an office. Business was slow at first. Then I found a banker who had a spare bottle (not cough medicine). Spirits were as precious as gold in Kemano and after a while business became quite brisk."

REAL EXPERIENCE

"I'll never forget one old fellow up there. He walked into the office one night, covered with mud and grime."

"How much of these bonds can I buy?" he asked."

"I thought I'd stop him right away so I told him, 'The limit is $5,000 per person.' "He didn't even blink. Handed me two bank books and said, 'Take it out of these.' I opened the books and saw he had $4,000 in one account and $2,500 in the other. You never saw anyone write up $5,000 worth of business as fast as I did."

Faster Ferry Run Planned

OLYMPIA (AP)—The Washington Toll Bridge Authority Tuesday approved a plan for a new $578,250 ferry terminal at Anacortes providing the city will maintain a road to the terminal site.

The plan calls for the port of Anacortes to construct the terminal about three miles west of the present ferry dock location and lease it to the state for use of boats on the Anacortes-San Juan Island-Sidney, B.C., run. L. D. Birse, manager of the state ferry system said the new terminal would shave 15 minutes from each run and would permit increasing the number of round trips on the summer schedule from the present five to seven daily.

ON STAGE

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Why Is the Eye of a Hurricane Calm?
A hurricane is a vast and violent storm shaped like a doughnut. The hole in the center is a region of calm with blue skies and, perhaps, light breezes. The central eye of the hurricane is usually about 20 miles wide. A spiral of winds swirls around it at speeds up to 200 miles an hour. The winds bear black spiraling clouds, torn by lightning and peeling with thunder. Yet, in the center of this howling storm is a small quiet region of calm — the eye of the hurricane. This eye of the storm is a tunnel of vertical winds blowing at right angles to the ground. These vertical currents may be both ascending and descending. And this column of vertical winds holds the spiraling horizontal winds at bay. The entire storm is from 300 to 600 miles in diameter. All this spiraling energy generates immense centrifugal force. We cannot yet explain fully what causes a hurricane to act as it does. But the centrifugal force of the rotating winds may be a factor in forming the calm eye of the storm. Centrifugal force doubles when the radius of a spiraling object is halved. This means that the centrifugal force in the winds near the center increases. Centrifugal force pushes the rotating winds out from the center. The core of a hurricane is a low pressure region, pulling air in towards it. At one point these warring forces, one pulling in, the other pulling out, must balance each other. This point will be at the rim of the calm eye.

Born in Trade Winds

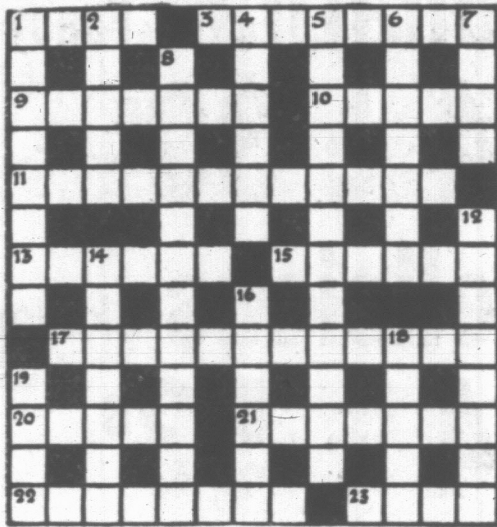

The hurricanes that strike eastern United States hatch over the warm Atlantic, just north of the equator. They are born during the summer and fall months when trade winds from the southern hemisphere blow up and tangle with the trade winds north of the equator. The northern trades blow from the northeast, the southern trades from the southeast. Pockets of low pressure, of warm, light ascending air, tend to generate over the tropical ocean. Such a column of rising air may get trapped in a tangle of trade winds from the north and from the south. Though we are not certain of this it may explain how the spiraling winds and central eye of a hurricane get started. Each howling hurricane is carefully watched, charted and studied for two very good reasons. By checking its path it is possible to predict where and when it will strike. Its winds and the power of its destruction can be estimated. So, by watching each hurricane warnings may be issued over land and sea. The second reason for study is that we do not yet fully understand the causes and dynamics of a hurricane. Perhaps, when we have studied enough of them and learned all about

ARMED POLICE FOR PRINCESS

BELFAST (UPI) — Armed police in two cars escorted Princess Margaret when she began a two-day visit to Northern Ireland Tuesday. As she drove from Aldergrove Airport to the home of the governor, 20 miles away, armed members of the Royal Ulster Constabulary lined strategic points on the route. Inside the police post two sten guns and ammunition pouches lay on a wooden table.

'Creditable' Performance

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON
One of the most difficult modern comedies for amateur groups to attempt, is Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit," which the Peninsula Players of Sidney presented last week at Sidney Elementary School.

In this zany piece of theatre, Coward pivoted a group of highly sophisticated people about a somewhat mad character called Madame Arcati, a medium.

CREDITABLE JOB

In general the Peninsula Players did a creditable job with this vehicle. Actually indeed, with a bit of strengthening in certain aspects, much more might be said. Despite overmuch prompting on the first night there were signs that Dorothy Rayburn, Robert Hallock and Mary Leaf had some feeling for the proper tempo.

Dorothy Rayburn particularly, in her role of Ruth, Charles Condinnine's second wife, gave a forceful, well paced performance that carried conviction.

Much more careful makeup was required in Hallock's case to make him a believably middie-aged Charles. Also, along with several of the cast he needed to remember to keep his voice "alive" throughout his speeches. Nevertheless he has the makings of a capable actor.

Mary Leaf as the conjured-up spirit wife, Elvira, had some feeling for the part but her performance lacked shape and was allowed to become almost sordid at frequent moments. Her airy comments on the husband-wife feud should never have been addressed directly to the audience and while her make-up was correctly keyed, her robes were too dark and heavy appearing.

Eve Gray's Madame Arcati was neither buoyant nor flamboyant enough. The characterization needed much greater vigor and intensity of speech, tempo and action.

Some quite excellent bits were provided by Margaret Dixon as the bumptious maid, Edith.

Herb Drew and Joan Henrickson played Doctor and Mrs. Bradman acceptably. Direction was by Ailsa Rothery.

ROLE OF MIMI in "La Boheme" to be presented at the Royal Theatre Monday, will be sung by lyric coloratura soprano Josephine Guido, according to a release from New York Opera Festival Company. The company will also perform Verdi's "Rigoletto" on Tuesday evening. Miss Guido is a charming, vivacious young singer who has attracted praise of Italian as well as American critics. Trained in New York, she has toured and sung in Canada, Italy and Central America.

Optimist Bingo to Aid Boys' Work

Boys' work in Victoria will be helped Saturday through an Optimist Club sponsored bingo game at 8 p.m. in Central Junior High School.

The club, which sponsors a boys' hobby centre at 937 Fairfield Road, and several junior football and baseball teams, is offering more than $600 in prizes.

Proceeds from the evening will go towards assisting the hobby centre to carry on its work. Tickets are available at Hudson's Bay Co., Gem Fish and Chips store, B.C. Meat Market, and Diggon's Willson Stationery.

'Madonna' Painting Featured at Show In Art Gallery

A 15th century painting of the Madonna and Child that came to Victoria hidden under a 19th century canvass is a feature of the Art Gallery's first display of old masters in its new centennial wing.

The display opened Tuesday. The Madonna canvas was brought to the gallery four years ago by Mrs. F. C. E. Roome, a former Victorian, whose great grandfather bought it in Europe in 1773.

The painting came overlaid by a 19th century canvass and was not discovered until the top painting was examined and removed. Exact value of the 15th century painting is not known.

The display covers the 17th, 18th and early 19th centuries, with 11 canvasses from Vancouver Art Gallery's permanent collection as the exhibition's core.

Also on view is a collection of rare Tibetan art presented to the gallery by Mrs. H. R. Gale, of Victoria.

Judge Cites 'Devious Methods' In Passing Money to Sommers

VANCOUVER (CP)—"There was a rather conspicuous lack of the use of cheques," said Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson Tuesday, summing up evidence in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial.

Cheques, of course, would leave a record. He said the jury should not hesitate to consider that most of the money going to former forests minister Robert Sommers was in the form of cash or bonds.

NO CORRESPONDENCE

Numerous times during his day-long address in the 72nd day of the record trial, the 60-year-old justice remarked that the jury could rightly consider the "devious methods" used in passage of money to Sommers.

There was also, he observed, a lack of correspondence with respect to loans—if the jury was to believe the story about loans. But that was for them to decide.

Mr. Justice Wilson told the jury that on his own evidence chief Crown witness Charles W. Eversfield might be an accomplice in the case.

The judge said the term accomplice might also apply to Trevor Daniels, former chief financial officer of B.C. Forest, and George Davenport, former Schultz company bookkeeper, but he did not think so. But that was for the jury to decide.

And he told them they could convict on the uncorroborated evidence of an accomplice "but it would be dangerous to do so."

He told the jury, too to remember the defence's case that moneys going to Sommers were innocent loans, which had been covered by notes and were repaid. In this regard he said the Crown must convince the jury that such gifts or loans were actually for favors in transactions with the government.

The judge referred to five bribery charges he earlier nullified against Sommers and some of the other accused. He recalled that Sommers' counsel, Angelo Branco, had told the jury they should not consider the evidence in those acts when considering the case against Sommers.

Alfred Bull, counsel for Schultz, had made the same assertion on behalf of his client.

Both of these statements, the judge said, "are completely wrong." The direct acquittal of Sommers on certain of the substantive bribery counts must be entirely disregarded by the jury in considering conspiracy against the former minister.

"Insofar as conspiracy is concerned," the judge said, "those matters are still alive not only against the others but against Sommers."

He told the jury that the Schultz Company got some $26,000 from the Empire, Church and Tahsis timber companies on contracts it held with them with respect to preparatory work in timber licence applications.

But these firms regarded the contract as legitimate, were satisfied with Schultz' work and there was no evidence that they knew anything about the alleged split of funds.

But he observed it was for the jury to decide what the contracts with these firms meant. His own opinion was that each one provided payment of considerable sums only when a forest management licence was issued.

The defence he noted had said the Schultz firm, with a worldwide reputation, had no motive to enter a conspiracy. But if Schultz and his firm stood to gain in cash when timber licences were granted, "then there may have been such a

CASTING BEGINS

College Theatre Group To Present O'Neill Play

Following up last spring's theatre-in-the-round production of George Bernard Shaw's "Apple Cart," Victoria College Players' Club have turned to the works of Eugene O'Neill, for the 1959 production.

"Ah, Wilderness!" O'Neill's warm, bright human comedy is their choice and will be seen at the College Feb. 9 to 13. Director will again be Mrs. Flora Nicholson.

For this production the Players' Club is abandoning the arena styling staging in the Ewing Building which it has used for the past few years, and is returning to the auditorium in the old building.

A 15-foot apron extension will be built out from the existing proscenium stage and all new lighting is planned to carry out suggestions of Vancouver expert in stage lighting, Tommy Leigh.

Committees to handle the production have been set up and casting will take place immediately.

FIRST MAN ON THE MOON WILL FIND WOMAN THERE

TORONTO (CP)—The first man on the moon, says an American rocket expert, may be a woman. Dr. G. Edward Pendray of New York City, former president of the American Rocket Society, said Monday night the first persons to reach the moon, within five years, will be between 19 and 21 and weigh 100 pounds. He told the Toronto Railway Club those chosen for the first moon trip might be women. They were better-suited than men physically and "have a tremendous homing instinct—they'd be sure to come back."

BORDEN REPORT REACTION

McMahon Hails Policy on Gas

NEW YORK (CP)—Frank McMahon, president of West-coast Company Limited, said Monday gas transmitted by the firm's pipelines is "definitely not being sold to American distributors at a lower price than to Canadian distributors."

McMahon was commenting on a report by the Borden energy commission. His statement said:

"The finding of the Borden commission that Canadian natural gas is available for export on a fair and reasonable basis is one step in the formulation of a clear and workable gas policy which is needed for the orderly continued development of Canada's natural gas industry."

"Gas transmitted through the Westcoast system is definitely not being sold to American distributors at a lower price than to Canadian distributors," he said.

"In fact, this low-cost fuel would not have been available to communities in southern B.C. except through the development of a supplementary market in the U.S."

In other reactions the Canadian Petroleum Association, spokesman for a large part of the oil and gas industry, criticized the report for revealing "few immediate benefits to the petroleum industry in Western Canada."

It welcomed, however, "the report's recognition of the heavy investment already made and its recommendation of the need for access to the United States markets for our natural gas in order to keep the Canadian petroleum industry in a buoyant and progressive state."

Hazen Argue, CCF leader in the House of Commons, said in Edmonton "references to the profits by officials of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited and Westcoast Transmission Company "confirmed the CCF position that main gas transmission lines running across provincial boundaries should be nationally owned."

Arthur Laing, B.C. Liberal leader, said in Vancouver the report "should awaken Canadians to the fact that their natural resources are literally being stolen from them."

N. E. Tanner, president of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, said he was not surprised the commission endorsed further export of natural gas but declined comment on the recommendation that assurances by the former Liberal government that Trans-Canada be allowed to export gas to the U.S. at Emerson, Man., should be ignored.

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Federal Power Commission is expected this week to say whether it is prepared to allow natural gas to be imported from the Trans-Canada pipeline and sold in the United States.

Laing Misled On Power Cost Says Official

B.C. Power Commission Monday claimed B.C. Liberal leader Arthur Laing erred last week when he said cost-of-power production at John Hart development must be highest in Canada.

He mentioned an investment of $100,000,000 whereas the actual investment was closer to $20,000,000, an official stated.

He thought Mr. Laing had been misled by reference to the estimated cost of the whole central Vancouver Island power system, embracing three dams and generator stations, three river diversions and Puntledge generator station, as well as Island transmission lines.

Suspended Term For Woman On Theft Charge

Former Esquimalt municipal stenographer Mrs. Betty J. Cuth, 2315 Cook, drew a six-month suspended sentence and was placed under a $500 good behavior bond in Esquimalt police court Monday after pleading guilty to a $46 theft of municipal funds.

Magistrate Henry Hall pointed out that stealing was bad at any time but was particularly bad when done by a person in a position of trust.

Mrs. Cuth retained money paid into the office. She was ordered to make restitution from her last municipal pay cheque, being held by the municipality.

WALLS ARE GOING UP on the new Shelbourne Elementary School which will be filled with children from new subdivisions in the Mortimer Street area next fall. Picture taken today shows ideal setting chosen for school, spacious and screened by trees.

THE "GOOD OLD DAYS" couldn't hold a candle to today's school construction. Picture of workshop in new Oak Bay addition, to be formally opened Thursday night, points up change from dark, cramped classrooms to well-lighted, functional rooms providing breathing space for students at work. (Times photos by Bill Halkett.)

Big Push on Schools for Bumper Pupil Crop

More than $500,000 worth of school construction is underway as the Greater Victoria School Board prepares to meet another bumper influx of students next year.

Last lap of the board's $5,600,000 five-year construction program will begin after current work is completed.

Thursday an official opening ceremony will be held in the new Oak Bay Senior High School addition at 8 p.m.

Originally estimated to cost close to $600,000, the addition was completed in six months at a cost of $472,000, providing 12 new teaching areas, a gymnasium, auditorium and new washrooms for the increased enrollment.

Meanwhile, hammers and saws are in action as three new elementary schools and an addition are going up to provide 25 new classrooms for the expanding pupil population.

These include the seven-room Shelbourne, Hampton and Uplands Elementary Schools and a four-room addition to Sir James Douglas Elementary School.

NEXT SPRING

The Uplands school and Sir James Douglas addition will be ready for use next spring. The other two schools will go into operation next fall.

After that, work will be launched on a new senior high school for the Esquimalt-Victoria West area permitting conversion of Esquimalt High School to a junior high.

Next on the priority list will be a junior high school in Gordon Head area, an activity room at McKenzie Avenue Elementary School and last an office expansion at Craigdarroch Castle, school board headquarters.

REPLY TO CRITICS

Surveying progress of the building program, school superintendent John Gough today answered criticisms that construction costs were too high.

"It can safely be said that school construction costs are lower, on a per square foot basis, than home construction costs," he said.

The Oak Bay Senior High School addition cost only $10.25 per square foot even though it was of reinforced concrete construction. Architect's figures on home construction place the costs at $11 a square foot for average homes and $14 for quality homes, he said.

EMERY NEW PRESIDENT OF CITY ART GALLERY

Tony Emery, Times columnist, was elected president of the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria at the annual meeting Tuesday, succeeding Cmdr. P. F. Fairfull.

Elected to the board of directors were: Mrs. R. S. Conn, Mrs. F. A. Hawkins, Charles Nelles, Hugh Stephen, Robert J. Harvey, W. Bart Carson, G. K. Sammon, L. P. Jones, Mrs. W. Mearns, Arthur Dowell and Mrs. Elsa Mayhew.

In his inaugural address, Mr. Emery referred to the Art Gallery's new wing as "only the first step in a continuing program of expansion."

ALTERNATIVE FOR SAANICH, SAYS REEVE

Subdivision Control Instead of Merger?

Subdivision control instead of amalgamation may be the answer to Saanich's problems, Reeve George Chatterton said today.

The reeve said a proposal to restrict subdivision developments in certain zones, creating solid urban belts, would minimize and "perhaps eliminate" one of the main advantages of amalgamation with the city.

However, Reeve Chatterton has not committed himself yet to either side of the amalgamation issue, which is favored in a report prepared for the city and Saanich by UBC economist Dr. J. J. Deutsch.

He plans to make a stand after a Nov. 5 council meeting when the report will be discussed with Dr. Deutsch.

ATTACK SPRAWL

Reeve Chatterton's comments followed presentation of a report by Saanich town planner Tony Parr which recommended new zoning bylaws for an attack on urban sprawl.

Mr. Parr said cost of providing services to present scattered developments would total $100,000 over the next 20 years.

But roping off certain sectors for intensive development of roads, sewers and other services would bring the price down to $27,000, he said.

Reeve Chatterton said this plan of concentrating development would have to be carried out whether or not Saanich amalgamated with the city.

"So we are faced with doing it ourselves or having someone else do it for us," he said.

Dr. Deutsch had predicted that Saanich taxes would have to go up over the next five years to finance development of services to its urban areas.

HE AGREED

"I asked Dr. Deutsch if we restricted subdivisions to certain areas if it wouldn't minimize one of his main arguments for amalgamation," said Reeve Chatterton. "Dr. Deutsch agreed it would."

Recommendations in Mr. Parr's plan for concentrated development are:

1. Gordon Head drainage basin to be designated by a subdivision bylaw as a residential expansion area. This would include all of the projected Cadboro Bay-Shelbourne-Ruby Road sewer area.

2. A detailed community plan to be prepared for this area so that paving, water, drainage and sewer improvements can be tied closely to provision of schools, parks and other facilities.

3. Minimum lot size within the sewer area to be 6,000 square feet.

4. Beyond the sewer area but still inside the residential expansion sector, minimum lot size to be 8,400 square feet. The minimum would be reduced as sewers were extended.

5. Cordova Bay area to be declared a residential expansion sector and subdivisions permitted.

6. Minimum lot size of three acres in outlying areas of the municipality, but subdivision of existing two-acre lots into one-acre lots to be permitted.

AMALGAMATION REPORT

This is the first of 10 parts presenting the verbatim report made by Dr. J. J. Deutsch to a Victoria-Saanich committee in which amalgamation of the two municipalities was recommended. The report is being printed in a serial form in the interest of voters who may cast ballots on the question.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE VICTORIA-SAANICH AMALGAMATION STUDY

Foreword:

The relationship between Victoria and Saanich is a type that has become familiar throughout North America as a result of the rapid growth in urban areas during the past 20 years. In Greater Victoria there is the familiar case of a central city with a concentration of commercial, business, administrative, industrial and recreational facilities serving an entire metropolitan region.

The area of the central city is relatively small and its usable land is very largely occupied. Adjoining the central city there is a municipality with a much larger area which is relatively thinly settled and comprises a substantial amount of rural land. Much the greater part of the increases in urban populations in recent years have taken place everywhere in such adjoining municipalities of which Saanich is not an untypical example.

The new urban dwellers together with many who have moved out from older districts have built their homes in suburban developments but the activities in the central city have continued to provide the main opportunities for employment. This has been the case in respect of Victoria and Saanich.

Population Trends 1941-1976 Rates of Population Increase
	Victoria	Saanich
1941	44,068	16,811
1951	51,331	28,481
1958	56,000	42,300
Percentage Increase (1941-58)	27%	152%

The population trends of recent years may be expected to continue into the future. The unoccupied area in Victoria is relatively small but in Saanich municipality there remains some 25 square miles of non-urban land. Authoritative forecasts indicate that in about 10 years the population of Saanich municipality will begin to exceed that of Victoria and will rise to substantially higher figures in succeeding years.

Population Forecast
	Victoria	Saanich
1958	56,000	42,300
1968	59,500	59,000
1976	63,000	75,900
Percentage Increase (1958-76)	13%	79%

*Forecasts supplied by B. Wiesman, Planning Director, Capital Region Planning Board.

Developments arising out of sources. Saanich municipality has had to rely almost entirely, apart from provincial grants, upon tax levies on residential property.

4. Victoria has provided urban services in respect of traffic, sanitation, welfare, public health, industrial promotion, parks, protection and community amenities considerably in excess of the needs of its own residents owing to the daily influx of a rapidly growing population from beyond its borders. Saanich being almost entirely a residential and rural municipality has so far been able to avoid many of the problems of an expanding flow of activity within a confined area.

5. Victoria has had a well-established system of municipal administration which has required relatively little elaboration in order to cope with the growth of the city. Saanich, on the other hand, has had to face the task of building a comprehensive system of municipal administration over a comparatively short period.

These differing circumstances in the two municipalities are reflected in their respective finances and the character of these services.

Thursday: Costs of services in the two municipalities.

MONTE ROBERTS

One of the most popular features in The Times—and deservedly so—is Ask the Times (bottom left hand corner, this page).

Along with thousands of others, I read Ask the Times daily, and find my store of knowledge is greatly enhanced thereby.

After reading the answers in Ask the Times, I feel stronger mentally, more able to cope with the complexities of modern life.

At least, this is usually the case.

But not so yesterday.

Yesterday there appeared this question: "Q. Which is correct, 'he who laughs first, laughs last', or 'he who laughs last, laughs longest'?" L.J.D."

To which Ask the Times replied, with brevity bordering on the austere:

"A. Both are used."

Now, I ask you (or should I Ask the Times?)

WHO uses both? Perhaps L.J.D. uses both "he who laughs first, laughs last," and "he who laughs last, laughs longest."

If L.J.D. uses both these expressions, he is probably the only person in the world to do so, so why does he worry about which is correct?

Why not just toss a coin?

Personally, I can think of many other versions of the famous "he laughs best who laughs last," to which I presume L.J.D. was referring.

One I especially like is attributed to Nietzsche: "He who laughs best today, will also laugh last." If he means what I think he means, he means the man with the best sense of humor will wind up the happiest.

However, I commend to the attention of L.J.D. and Ask the Times my very own version of the "last laugh" bit: He who laughs best laughs lastly.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The Society for Peace by Peaceful Means, which was recently set up in Victoria, will meet at the Health and Welfare Centre, 1947 Cook Street, on Thursday at 8 p.m.

Glen Hamilton will be in the chair and the society will elect a board of directors.

Just recently the society received a letter from a British organization known as The Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament giving the names of Canadian citizens who have written for information.

City council members at times can't even get into their own parking spots behind the city hall, police commission was told today.

City manager C. C. Wyatt said the parking there, reserved for council members and civic officials, is "being abused," by unauthorized cars.

He suggested that a sticker be issued those entitled to park in the space.

Representation of city council and the Greater Victoria school board were scheduled today to battle over city-owned lots reserved for school purposes.

The meeting, called by the department of education, was to be held in the Douglas building. The issue arose recently when city council decided to lift reservations, put on about a dozen properties 14 years ago, and offer them for sale.

B.C. Electric said today warning up its buses before being sent out was a costly procedure and not "justified" during present "mild weather."

The statement was made in a letter sent by the company's transportation manager, H. R. Halls, to Victoria Labor Council in reply to recent criticism by council delegates that city buses were "cold and damp" first thing in the morning.

Gilbert Hogg, 13 Vickery Place, through his lawyer, pleaded guilty in city police court today to drinking in a public place. He drank rye in a parked car. Fine was $50.

A welcoming ceremony has been planned by Greater Victoria Citizenship Council for 25 candidates who will receive citizenship certificates at the Court House Thursday at 10 a.m.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. In taking social studies, I have two weeks to prepare an essay on Vancouver Island's history. Where can I find this data?—T.P.

A. Go to the provincial library in the Legislative buildings and tell them just what aspect of V.I.'s history you have in mind.

Q. Could you please tell me the average temperature per month for a year in Calgary? And what is the rainfall?—A.K.

A. January through December mean temperature per month follows: 15, 17, 26, 40, 49, 56, 62, 59, 51, 32, 28 and 19. Mean precipitation is 16.87 inches, including rain and snow. Rain accounts for 11.84 inches of this.

Q. Into what income category do most Canadians come? M.I.T.

A. Most are in the $2,000-$3,000 wage group, closely followed by the $3,000-$4,000 group, of whom 947,930 were reported at the last count.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve controversies or legal problems. 'TALES OF HOFFMAN'

Adventure-Loving Cleric Dies Here

A man who scratched an escape tunnel from a Russian prison in the First World War, the day before he was to have been hanged, died in his Victoria home today.

He was Rev. Dr. Frank Hoffman, 81, of 305 Beaumont Avenue, a native of Hungary who lived in retirement here following a colorful and adventurous life. The widow, Mrs. Jean Hoffman, has also travelled widely and was formerly a frontier nurse.

While serving as an officer in the Austro-Hungarian Army, Dr. Hoffman fled from his Russian jailers at Berezowka near Balk Lake in April 1918 after being told he would be hanged.

The Russian commissars started gathering prisoners who seemed fit and pressing them into the Red Army. Dr. Hoffman and three comrades protested and were put in solitary confinement.

Dr. Hoffman's jail was a small log cabin with an earthen floor. He clawed a tunnel under the wall with his hands and a few rusty tools and travelled all night away from his captors.

He trudged right across Siberia and entered Canada illegally after being smuggled aboard a troopship.

CLEARED

After the war he cleared himself with the immigration department, graduated from a theological college and became a United Church missionary-at-large to 17 Hungarian settlements scattered over 60,000 square miles of Saskatchewan.

Dr. Hoffman was born in the village of Kunmadaras, Hungary, the son of a Calvinist minister of small means. With the aid of government scholarships, he graduated from an agricultural college, studied law and gained a doctor's degree; became manager of a model farm and was appointed to the chair of economics and statistics at Kass Agricultural College.

Retiring to Victoria in 1945, Dr. Hoffman became a good friend to Hungarian settlers and assisted immigration authorities as an interpreter.

He spoke Magyar, German, English, French, Russian Turkish, Greek and Latin and was highly respected for his courtesy, integrity and kindness.

In 1924 Dr. Hoffman married Jean Innes Crile, a Scottish ex-army sister who was then

Victorians Out of Money In 'Irish'

Horses carrying the hopes of Victoria sweepstake ticket holders in today's Cambridgeshire handicap ran out of the money.

Two of them—Loppylugs and Cash and Courage—made a run for it at the half-way mark before fading.

The third, Liza Goblin, a 100-1 shot, failed to get a call.

Mrs. M. E. Ellis, Mt. Edwards Apartments, Vancouver St., who held a ticket on Cash and Courage, said she wasn't excited.

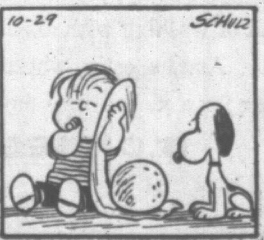

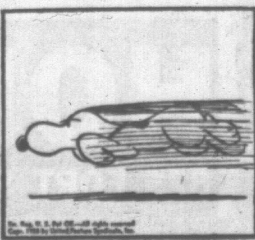

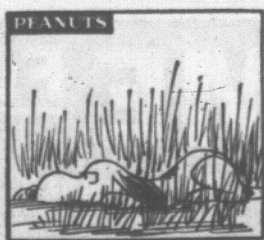

"I listened to the race broadcast, but my chances were so remote, there was really nothing to be excited about," she said.

The ticket on Loppylugs was held by Mrs. Z. I. Fawcett, 2345

"I was hoping, but my hopes after listening to the broadcast, weren't very high," she said. "I am grateful for what I am going to get."

Those who drew horses will receive about $1,500.

Ticket on Liza Goblin was held by Kenneth Eng, 538 Figgard. Non-starters, also worth $1,500 each, were drawn by William Brown, 4125 Birtles, and Mrs. Ethel Roberts, 1772 Bay.

New Basement Wall Paint Resists Alkali and Lime!

By PENNY SAVER

Did you know that most basement wall paints fail because of alkali, lime and moisture content present in all types of masonry? Neither did I until it was brought to my attention recently, that our basement walls were becoming a little worse for wear as far as the painted finish was concerned!

So down to the paint store we did go as fast as we could run to consult with our dealer about the ugly effect this peeling, flaking, chipping and color change was giving our walls! He showed us a special basement wall paint that can't be influenced by alkali or lime.

Best of all, this paint is easy to apply and ready to use... so there's no messy mixing of dry ingredients and no lime to burn your hands or endanger the eyes.

Warm water and soap cleans brushes, rollers and hands in a wink... then there is no trace of paint all over you and the equipment for days after the job is finished!

Colors in this paint include pink, green, grey, yellow, sea green, blue, ivory and sand. The finish sells at $8.30 a gallon and a quart costs just $2.40.

Call me for the store where you can buy your basement wall paint. My number is EV 2-3131.

TODAY'S RECIPE

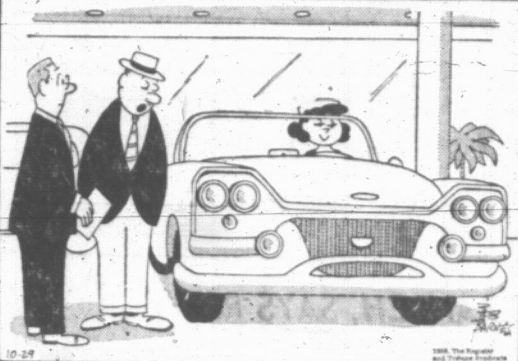

SNOW BALL SALAD

One package strawberry-flavored gelatin, 2 cups hot water, 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, 1½ cups canned fruit cocktail, salad greens, cream cheese, milk or cream.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water and stir in lemon juice. Cool until slightly thickened. Fold in well-drained fruit cocktail. Turn into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Soften cream cheese with a little milk or cream and spread over molds. Garnish with additional fruit cocktail, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

On Etiquette

LEAVE YOUNGSTERS HOME!

A bride's mother recently told the groom's family that children are not wanted at the wedding dinner. She said that if she had known that some of the relatives intended to take their children, she would have put "no children" on the invitations. I have never heard of such a thing.

She asked for a list of the groom's relatives and, after receiving it, said it had to be cut down at least half. All she wants is the immediate family, yet 160 people have been invited. She also told the groom that he should pay for some of the reception refreshments as well as the hall rental and orchestra, and that the ushers must pay for the bridesmaids' bouquets. Please put us straight.

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS

Children should never, never be taken to a wedding reception unless they are specifically invited and guests should never ask if they may bring the children. It would be an insult to discerning people to be told in black and white "No children." No one should question the right of the parents in limiting the number of guests. That is their prerogative and they have their own reasons. The bride's mother should have told the groom's mother that the reception list must necessarily have to be small and should have given some idea as to how many names. Sometimes 160 people can be comparatively small, depending on the size of the families. However, since the bride's parents do the inviting, the other mother should comply, perhaps with disappointment, but without question. It was not correct that the groom pay for any of the reception costs or that the ushers pay for the bridesmaids' flowers.

AMAZING AEROWAX

Mary Palmer displays some of the charming arrangements she will feature in her new venture, "The Christmas Shop," which opened in Palm Springs recently.

Victorian Opens Gay Shop In Fabulous Palm Springs

By NONA DAMASKE

What a thrill it was to be in Palm Springs when official opening of The Christmas Shop took place and to share in the excitement when a friend from home launched a new venture.

Mary Palmer, well-known Victorian, has been living in Palm Springs for three years now and intends to make it her future home.

Nona

The charming and unique shop is located on the village's North Palm Canyon Drive and it will feature originals and imports.

In the line of holiday decorations I found ballerina Christmas trees made of dream puff and foil in sparkling candy colors; fantasy Christmas trees crowned with petite flowers; glory stars and trees with vigil lights and decorated in twilight stars and sequins as well as a wonderful array of Christmas boxes.

Among the exciting Portuguese imports are hand-loomed cocktail aprons and hand-loomed sheepherder's blankets in fabulous patterns and so tightly woven they are almost waterproof. There are huge duffel bags, too, and a variety of interesting Majorcan straw hats for sportswear or street wear.

Some other eye-catching gift ideas are glamorous silver decorated knitting baskets and "flowers for keeps" featuring artificial fruit and flowers in either antique or modern containers.

Associated with Mary Palmer in this new venture are Melba Bennett, originator of Palm Spring hats, her daughter Dee-dee and Louise Head.

Good luck, Mary! I'm sure you know your friends in Victoria will be pulling for you!

P.S.—Arthur and Marie Ash spent a few days with Mary Palmer recently. They now live in San Diego. Mary's young niece, Barbara Wade, is spending the winter with her in Palm Springs.

When you read this I'll be in Los Angeles. Home by the end of the week.

Dinner—Salt Spring Island Anglican Women's Auxiliary sponsored a turkey dinner in the parish hall at Ganges recently. Mrs. G. H. Holmes was general convener, assisted by WA members and the girls' choir. Decorations were arranged by Mrs. C. Elliott and Mrs. A. R. Price.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here Are Suggestions for Trick and Treat Dieters

With thousands of you now losing surplus pounds with my new Trick and Treat Diet, I would like to give you a few suggestions which will help you keep your ideal weight once you have achieved it. In order to do this you must think of your reducing diet as a guide to a way of life.

By this I do not mean that you should continually keep your calorie count at the low reducing level or forever forego party foods and therefore be different from others on all social occasions. However, if you mentally throw your hat over the goal post after losing those overweight pounds, and think, "Well, thank heavens that is over!" you will never hold that lovely line.

What a shame it would be to subject yourself to the discipline which reducing requires and then have all of the lost pounds back within a few weeks time. As I said, holding your weight at the ideal point requires "a certain way of life, or even better, a certain state of mind."

For instance, if you know that you are going to a dinner party in a night or so you can cut your calories a little lower for a few days preceding the party. If, unexpectedly, you run into a day of heavy eating, you can cut down for a few days afterwards.

If you lead an active social life, then you may need to adopt even more strenuous methods, but you do not need to talk about them to others. When the hors d'oeuvres are passed, choose the carrot sticks, the celery, the salmon or cucumber or shrimp canapes rather than rich creamy or cheese ones.

When at a dinner party you can take some of everything—but you need not give yourself a large serving or eat all of the carbohydrates. You can take a hot roll and dessert and leave part of them. You can, without being noticed, leave some of the rich sauces or gravy.

Cut out the habit of between meal snacks. If you drink, choose whisky and water rather than an Old Fashioned or a Manhattan.

So, after losing extra pounds, start slowly and cautiously in giving yourself more leeway. Two or three pounds variance is not alarming but when it's five pounds too much you had best begin using some of the preventive measures I have mentioned, or even better lose the five before they multiply.

Heirloom Gown From England

An heirloom gown brought across the Atlantic for the second time by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. C. Hunt, of Parkview, Egham, Surrey, was worn by the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Mowbray at her christening. Canon S. J. Wickens officiated at the ceremony in St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, at which the baby girl received the names Susan Margaret. Godparents are Mrs. Margaret Ginsburg of San Francisco, Mrs. William Fraser and Mr. Douglas LeBus of Victoria. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Mowbray, Victoria. Attending the christening from out of town were Mrs. G. Hoggan and Mrs. M. Foster, Nanaimo; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Atkinson, Vancouver and Mrs. R. McDougall, Pam and Jack, of West Vancouver. Mrs. Hunt has been on a four-month visit with her daughters, Mrs. J. P. Mowbray, and Mrs. Frank Dearman, and expects to return to England soon.

Masquerade

Shawnigan Lake Boys' School will be full of goblins, ghosts, witches and black cats Friday evening, when the students of the senior school entertain at a Halloween dance in the main assembly hall. Guests will be dressed in masquerade costume for the affair. Among Victoria's younger set invited to the party are the Misses Alix Henderson, Ann MacDougall, Rosemary Nicholson, Nancy Nicholson, Lisa Husband, Elizabeth Gaisford, Sue Mearns, Barbara Emery, Charlotte Binder, Gayle Dickson, Jean Alexander, Lynne Edwards, Aletta Bartelink, Diane Saville, Daphne Gage, Gillian Keir, Jane Cruickshank, Sylvia Meade, Alice Powell and Wendy Gerry.

For Margaret Maunder

Rust-toned chrysanthemums centred the refreshment table at a shower given in honor of Miss Margaret Maunder, who is to be married early next month. Mrs. Donald Fraser was hostess at her home on Florence Street. A basket decorated in pink and white held gifts from the guests, who included Mrs. G. Walls, Mrs. E. Leach, Mrs. R. Manchester, Mrs. E. Hamilton, Mrs. S. Campbell, Mrs. E. Langdon, Mrs. P. Karm, Mrs. J. Irwin, Mrs. R. Jackson, Mrs. P. Allison, Mrs. V. Pellett, Mrs. L. Matthews, Mrs. K. McDonald, Miss Barbara Grant and Miss Eve Donnelly.

Mrs. Gummow Honored

Miss Ruth Adams and Miss Elizabeth Forbes were co-hostesses, Wednesday evening, at the Cadboro Bay Road home of the former, with a personal shower in honor of Mrs. Stella Gummow, who is to marry Mr. H. J. Welch, soon. Other guests were friends and associates of Mrs. Gummow. Gifts were presented in a box topped with a replica of a wedding ring. Refreshments were served from a lace-covered table. Mrs. Percy B. Scurrah and Mrs. R. H. Adams presided at the tea and coffee urns.

Tea Hour Hostess

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Landon, 2731 Burdick Ave., entertained members of the women's institutes provincial board at tea while they were meeting in Victoria. Those present included Hon. Newton P. Steacy, Minister of Agriculture and Mrs. Stella Gummow, superintendent of women's institutes and her fiancé, Mr. H. J. Welch, Qualicum; Miss Echo Lidster, supervisor of 4H Clubs and her mother, Mrs. Lidster; Mrs. J. Decker, Pemberton, B.C.; Mrs. Evelyn Partington, Francois Lake; Mrs. R. Doe, Port Coquitlam; Mrs. Marjorie Palmer, Kelowna; Mrs. E. G. Woodward, Brentwood Bay and Mrs. Clyde B. White, Nelson.

Officers Entertain

The officers of HMCS Venture will entertain at a dance in the wardroom on board Venture Saturday evening. Rooms will be decorated in a Halloween theme. Guests will be officers' wives and friends.

To California

Mrs. Hal Pinchin and her children, Martin, Jan and Eric, leave today to join Mr. Pinchin in San Mateo, California, where they plan to make their home. They have been visiting Mrs. Pinchin's parents, Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Olsen, for some time.

Welsh Visitor

Miss Mair-Williams of Wrexham, North Wales, who was teaching in Borneo for three years, spent some time in Victoria visiting her aunt, Mrs. Margaret L. Sinclair, and her cousins, Mrs. Vera Roger and Mr. Lloyd Sinclair in Victoria, has left for Denver, Colo., to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Edwards, before returning to Wales.

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

Elect Officers—At a business and musical evening, held by the Vera Barclay Studio Group Mrs. D. Holder was elected president. Mrs. J. Stamford was named vice-president; Mrs. M. Christison, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. R. Robertson, press correspondent. Miss Wendy Cox, program; Mrs. H. Williams, librarian, and Mrs. Effie Britton and Mrs. O. Harris, social conveners. Following business meeting, refreshments were served.

Raise $300—A successful rummage, sale and fashion show, sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary to Canadian Legion, Branch 92, Salt Spring Island, was held in Mahon Hall, Ganges, and raised over $300. Mrs. S. R. Gibbs was general convener. Articles for sale included rummage, rack of clothes and shoes, miscellaneous articles and home cooking. Tea was served under the direction of Mrs. A. W. Barber. Mrs. A. L. Campbell was at the door. The fashion show was in charge of Mrs. Howard Deyell with commentary by Mrs. Peter Cartwright. Piano background music was by Mrs. E. J. Ashlee. The show opened with a group of youngsters performing with hula-hoops, including Misses Penny and Jean Galbraith, Susan Graham, Daphne and Laurie Mouat and Jean Munro. Modelling adult fashions were Mrs. Deyell, Mrs. S. Anderson, Mrs. A. W. Barber, Mrs. J. Bond, Mrs. G. Bullock, Mrs. S. R. Gibbs, Mrs. G. Humphreys, Mrs. W. F. Thorburn, Mrs. A. Lutz, Mrs. M. Munro and Mrs. A. Wolfe-Milner.

Solarium Junior League members and friends will have fun at the 19th annual Farmerette Dance to be held Saturday in the Golden Slipper Supper Club from 9 to 1 a.m. Members of the committee, dressed in the "Down on the Farm" theme to be used for the dance, include Miss Carmen Logan, left, and Miss Pearl Ward. Each farmerette will take a box lunch for her farmer and prizes will be given for the best costumes. There will also be surprise awards and spot dances. Tickets may be obtained in the Solarium office, Yarrow Building, at O. H. Dorman's men's store and from league members.

Couple Married Here Plan Home in Seattle

Seattle will be the future home of newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Gary William Nelson, who were married in Douglas Street Baptist Church Saturday.

Mrs. Nelson is the former Margaret Janet Ralph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Ralph of Victoria, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Nelson of Seattle.

Rev. Cecil Barner officiated at the double-ring ceremony, at which the bride's aunt, Mrs. S. Ralph, was organist, R. Stofor was soloist. Baskets of autumn flowers decorated the church for the occasion.

Mr. Ralph gave his daughter in marriage. Her floor-length gown was of white net and lace over satin and was fashioned on princess lines. The bodice was embroidered with pearl studs and sequins, and a matching pearl and sequin headress held her pearl-studded shoulder-length veil. Her jewelry was a single-strand pearl choker with matching earrings, and she carried a crescent bouquet of red roses and lily-of-the-valley. Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. J. Bellavance, and cousins of the bride, Mrs. Marilyn Carlow and Miss Barbara Copley, were bridesmaids. Another cousin, Miss Betty Ralph, was flower girl, and Master Dale Bellavance was ring bearer.

The senior attendants were gowned in turquoise shot taffeta, with matching turquoise headpieces, white gloves and shoes. They carried crescent bouquets of feathered yellow chrysanthemums. Flower girl was in a similar gown and carried a basket of chrysanthemums.

Fred Markworth, Seattle, was best man, and ushers were Bob Amundsen, Seattle, and Ken Hughes, Victoria. John D. Carlow proposed the toast to his niece at a reception at Holyrood House following the ceremony.

As the newlyweds left later on a wedding trip to the southern United States, the bride wore a tangerine velvet chemise with black velvet hat, black and white accessories and a grey mouton coat. A gardenia corsage completed her ensemble.

Mainland Wedding

Of interest in Victoria is the marriage which took place in St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Chilliwack, of Olive Agnes Deasty and Robert Peter Douglass Round. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Deasty, of Rosedale, B.C., and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Round, of Victoria.

Chrysanthemums and autumn leaves formed the setting for the candlelight ceremony, which was performed by Rev. J. W. Way.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original gown designed by herself and a friend, Miss Johanna Regehr. The satin-backed taffeta skirt was long and fully crinolined. The long-sleeved bodice was of imported lace, and lace flowers, centred with rhinestones, were embroidered on the sheer silk yoke. The scalloped lace peplum also featured rhinestones in the flowers, and was caught by a large lace bow in the back, with streamers that reached the hemline. Her cascade bouquet of white spray chrysanthemums with yellow rosebuds was framed by sheaths of wheat.

Attending the bride were her cousins, Mrs. D. H. Mackay, Agassiz; Mrs. Leonard McDonald, Vancouver, and Miss Jean McLennan. They wore matching-mink-silk-organza dresses fashioned on princess lines with hooped ballerina-length skirts. Their chokers of brown velvet ribbon were centred with bebe chrysanthemums.

Best man was Lieut. Arthur Wade, Camp Chilliwack, and ushers were Steve Oaks and William Diment, Victoria.

Following a reception at the Masonic Hall, the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Honolulu, where they will visit the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. Kanz.

On their return, the newlyweds plan to live at 113 Gorge Road, Victoria.

Guild Shows Fashions

A fashion show was presented recently by the Evening Guild, Knox Presbyterian Church, Sooke. Mrs. J. Jackman and Mrs. W. Sharpe convoked the affair which was held in Sooke Community Hall.

Guild and choir members modelled the fall and winter fashions supplied by Gibsons' Shopping Centre at Sooke.

Mrs. Rex Kendrew and Mrs. Ken Shepherd were commentators and Mrs. W. Sharpe and Mrs. R. A. Elvin assisted the models, who were Mrs. H. Van Ek, Mrs. C. H. Radford, Mrs. Wilf Strong, Mrs. James Dun can, Mrs. G. A. Ackerman, Mrs. Len Jones, Mrs. D. Archibald and Mrs. Jack Lendley. Teen-age and children's wear were shown by Gordon Kidd, Patti Perestam, Cliff Welsh, Karen Pimlott, Dale Jones, Shelby Stange, Philip Sharpe, Brian Butler, Mary Petrie, Scott Kendrew, Pat Neale, Carl Linnell, Sandra Jones, Patti Kendrew, Lila Sharpe, Elsie Jackman and Linda Shepherd.

A magic show was presented by George Woodcroft, Vancouver. Refreshments were served.

Final Report—At a meeting of Canadian Daughters' League, Assembly No. 5, Mrs. L. E. Har kin, convener, gave a final re port of plans for a bazaar to be held Thursday at Newstead Hall. There will be stalls of home cooking, aprons, sewing, white elephant and parcel post, and afternoon tea will be served. Arrangements were made for a visit of the provincial president on Nov. 10.

DEAR ABBY . . .

It's Too Late Now, Honey!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How does a person go about changing the opinion of the entire neighborhood? My husband and I have had some pretty awful battles (with words). I've had the windows open and now the word has passed that we are not getting along, which is true to a certain extent, but I would prefer the neighbors to think differently for the sake of the children. I have to blow off a little steam now and then because life would be pretty boring if a man and his wife didn't have a few arguments.

"TOUCHY."
DEAR TOUCHY: If you are concerned about what the neighbors hear, don't raise your voices until you've lowered the windows.

"UNDECIDED."
DEAR UNDECIDED: This decision should be left up to your doctor. If he feels that you are able to live alone, I think you should definitely continue to maintain your independence.

"HEARTSICK MOTHER."
DEAR HEARTSICK: If I were in your boat I would throw him out into the icy waters of reality and let him sink or swim. He is 25 years old, Mother, and it's time you cut the cord and told him to cut the nonsense.

"SUE."
DEAR SUE: Turn the other cheek!

DEAR ABBY: I am 82 years old, I am the mother of seven children, eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. I have always been in good health, worked hard, am active and live alone in my own home. I like it that way. I go and come as I please, sleep when I like and am in no one's way. Now the children feel that I am too old to live alone. They want me to break up my little house and live among them. I can't see why I can't go on living as I have. I live only one block from one of my sons, have a phone by my bed and I am happy here. Should I do as the children say? Please give me your opinion. Thanking you in advance.

"TWENTY-TWENTY."
DEAR TWENTY: Perhaps the ladies believe the little rhyme: "Men never make passes at

DEAR ABBY: If people have to wear glasses, why don't they wear glasses? I have a friend who passes me up on the street all the time. I practically have to knock her over to get her to recognize me. Then she says she is sorry but she wasn't wearing her glasses. If people who need glasses think they look better without them, they are sadly mistaken. They squint and screw up their faces until they look like monkeys. I hope those guilty parties will put on their glasses and read this.

SALT SPRING ISLAND NOTES

Victorians visiting Harbor House at Ganges Harbor recently were Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Mackenzie, Mr. A. Pearce, Mr. R. P. Taylor, Mr. L. J. Landry, Mr. J. A. Porritt and Mr. M. Oro. Mr. and Mrs. D'Arcy McGee, of Sea View Road, with their children, Margo, Kathy, Gordon and Timothy were among recent guests at Aclands Guest House. Also staying at the resort were Dr. and Mrs. Gordon

Grant with John and Peter, and Mr. Barnaby Guthrie. Miss Nona Shove, of Victoria, had as her weekend guest Miss Janet Chapman, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Shove, at "Galle", Ganges.

Joint Meeting

John Greaves, honorary secretary of the Dickens Fellowship, in London, will speak on "Dickens and His Characters" at a joint luncheon meeting of the men's and women's Canadian Clubs on Friday in the Empress Hotel, at 12.15 p.m.

CHILDREN INTRIGUED BY GARBAGE GOBBLERS

First of a breed of goggle-eyed monsters with a voracious appetite for litter, has taken station on the Malahat Highway near Bamberton.

Known as "garbage gobblers," the picnic paper-eater was created at Langford workshop of the Provincial Recreation and Conservation Department. Designer is C. P. Lyons.

Other of the camouflaged garbage cans have been stationed at points on mainland highways. Result has been an upsurge in juvenile interest in keeping travelled areas tidy.

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood says the green, orange, yellow and black monsters have a free-swinging mouth flap which children love to feed.

PARKS' CHIEF LASHES LITTERBUGS

4 Types of 'Poor Citizens' Named

City parks administrator W. H. Warren has lashed out at litterbugs leaving a trail of trash and broken bottles in park trash cans and along the waterfront.

"They are very poor citizens," he said, singling out four types of offenders.

"People of a certain kind dump their garden litter along the waterfront from Howe to Cook and Douglas to Lewis. That's against the law and I'm sure they know it," he said.

He also criticized party-givers who dump their empty beer and liquor bottles in park trash cans so their neighbors wouldn't see them. This leaves practically no room for other rubbish in the cans, he said.

Hearts Win

EDINBURGH (Reuters) — Hearts scored a 5-0 away victory over Raith Rovers in a First Division Scottish League soccer game today.

Beacon Hill Park then break their bottles on the rocks opposite South Park School are endangering the children who play there, he said.

Fourth target of his anger were residents on Cook who fill up boulevard trash cans with prunings and other garden refuse.

LEACH & PARTNERS
11111 11th Street, Victoria, B.C.

Do you have a home for sale that is different? One that is not just "another house on a street." My client has asked me to find him a place that is smart and spacious. Must have 6 rooms—3 bedrooms, full dining room, bathroom, preferably modern, nice view. He likes the type of home with patio, barbecue, rumpus room, etc. Must be close to a hill or waterfront—just something that's out of the ordinary. He's not hard to please. Call me immediately if "THE PRICE IS RIGHT."

ROY SMITH, EV 2-2157, or evenings GR 7-3446. Western Homes, Ltd.

URGENT—I require for client from California, 2-bedroom home with small suite in basement, situated in Oak Bay or Fairview. Price around $15,000. Will pay cash to suit.

2, 3-bedroom home, Oak Bay, quiet location, high basement, small lot. NHA preferred. Around $12,000 cash deal. Please call Mr. Agar for prompt attention and courteous service. Please phone EV 3-7442 anytime or call at 211 Central Bldg. John Blaz Ltd., 820 View St.

MY CLIENT WILL PAY CASH for house in vicinity of Haulian, Oaklands or Shalbourne. Around $15,000. These are retired people and want a warm home and would prefer a basement. This is a sincere request. Please call Mr. Foster at Harry Foster Ltd., EV 2-2101 or at my residence, EV 3-9225.

NO PURS OR BOTHER Selling a new or older home, in competition with NHA homes, is often difficult. By arranging just the right lot or 2nd mortgage, we may be able to sell your home for a much higher price. Call us for advice. Dickie & Co., 833 Fort Street, EV 4-4112, evs. EV 2-3646.

WANTED—TWO MODERN 3-BEDROOM homes, close to Catholic schools in Oak Bay or Quadra area. Our clients have substantial down payments and will pay from $14,000 to $18,000. Please contact A. Donahoe, evs. EV 2-8070. Bel Shragge, evs. EV 2-8802. King Realty, EV 2-2311.

ISLAND NEWS

Revision of Business Tax System Studied by Duncan

DUNCAN — City council is considering a revision of trade licences and business taxes at the beginning of 1959.

City Clerk G. M. Berry said Duncan assesses trade licences on the type of goods sold; Nanaimo uses floor space as a basis, and North Cowichan adopts the number of employees as basis for licences.

The city could consider all three plans "with a view to choosing the best features of one or all of them," Mr. Berry said.

ALBERNI—Plans now are underway for the construction of a drag strip at Alberni, two representatives of the Island Timing Association said here Monday.

Jack Fraser and Paul Willis outlined the aims and objects of the 400-member association of hot-rod and custom cars. Each member, they said, is trained and ready to offer help to stranded motorists.

DUNCAN — Susan Standen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Standen, Cowichan Station, received most of the major awards at the annual dinner of the Cowichan Jersey Cattle Club in St. John's Hall here.

Her awards included the new B.C. Power Commission Trophy for highest grand aggregate 4-H score in the Cowichan Valley; the Perpetual Jersey Club Trophy for the best calf in the club; the Handen Farm Trophy for the best Jersey yearling; the Scott and Peden Cup for the highest aggregate score in the club, and the Gulmark Trophy for highest marks in the year's work plus points scored on the final show day at Saanichton.

Stan Owens, president of the Cowichan Agricultural Society, presented the Roseale Cup to Jim Bomford, and Ken Jameson, district agriculturist, presented to Christine Wohlers, a special prize for outstanding progress during the year, donated by the Northwestern Creamery.

Book prizes were received by Don Reed, Maria Heyd, Nancy Whittaker, Sheila Moir, Garry Bomford, Stewart Johnson and Derek Pickering.

ALBERNI — The Chamber of Commerce here is seeking assurance from the Department of Recreation that Smith's Landing Park at Sproat Lake will not be closed to the public.

The chamber will send a letter to Recreation Minister E. C. Westwood asking if his department had plans for the park. Rumors that MacMillan & Bloedel, Limited, which has maintained the park for many years as a picnic and camping site, may abandon the project, motivated the request.

OTTAWA (CP)—Exodus of hundreds of Canadian electronics and missile engineers to the United States has begun, industry sources said Tuesday.

One authority said there isn't a doubt that Canada will lose hundreds of these men to the U.S.

Earlier this month, Dr. Norman A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, said Canada's defence policy might force some of the country's "best brains" to turn to the U.S. for employment.

"The best and most adventurous of those engaged in the labor force will be more likely to find suitable employment at Boeing in Seattle than at Avro in Toronto," he said.

The government last month killed two major Canadian defence projects, the Sparrow air-to-air missile and the Astra armament control system for the supersonic Arrow jet interceptor. It postponed until March a final decision on whether to put the Arrow into limited production.

Spokesmen for industries affected said the government decision was a heavy blow.

This had been followed swiftly by another blow: manpower "raids" into Canada by U.S. companies.

Officials of several companies said American firms have sent teams into Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton, Ottawa and other centres to recruit Canadian engineers and technicians.

One authority said the Canadian companies are finding it almost impossible to hang onto their engineers because they can't promise them work to fit their training and experience in electronics and missiles.

They said the government has announced it hopes to work out production-sharing between American and Canadian industry in the defence field.

But, they said, there was little prospect of this until American industry received more defence orders than it could handle, and U.S. industry had not reached this point.

Canadian companies with parent firms in the U.S. have started transferring personnel to U.S. plants.

Firms hardest hit include RCA, Canadian Westinghouse, Canair Limited, Computing Devices of Canada and Canadian Marconi.

ALBERNI — The question of mail delivery flared up again in city council Tuesday night when members of the Civic Non-Partisan Association presented a petition signed by 1,000 residents requesting a plebiscite be held with the municipal elections this year.

Mayor Jack Luckhurst maintained his previous stand where, by no plebiscite will be held this year, regardless of the actions of the pro-mail delivery group.

He further pointed out that the question of holding a plebiscite will not come under discussion in the council chambers for another six months. During this time, commented the mayor, the people will be better acquainted with the facts.

At present the only way in which the "old town" can have mail delivery is at the expense of losing the post office and its identity.

All mail would be addressed to Port Alberni if the city should decide to accept mail delivery. This and the loss of the post office would be a blow to the city, the mayor said.

More Rooms In New School At Shawnigan

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—Sketch plans for a classroom building to replace the one destroyed by fire Oct. 3 will go before Shawnigan Lake School board of governors in two weeks, headmaster E. R. Larsen has announced.

The new building will have two laboratories and 16 classrooms, four more than in the building razed in the early morning $100,000 fire.

A site measuring 60 by 120 feet has been cleared for the new building. It is 100 feet beyond that of the original building, and on higher ground.

Enrolment of 374 At Ganges School

GANGES — Enrolment at Ganges School now stands at 374, an increase of 28 since June, it was reported at the regular meeting of Salt Spring District 64 school board.

Pender Island School enrolment rose from 22 to 34, making it necessary to reopen the second room of the school with Mrs. Edna Slater of Ganges as teacher.

Other new staff members are Mrs. Joan Fowler, home economics, Ganges; Miss Eileen Gardner, Galiano; Mrs. E. Benedict, Saturna.

It was reported that 45 per cent of pupils had subscribed to an accident insurance scheme offered in the schools, and that some claims already had been made in connection with playground accidents.

Materials will be supplied for a shelter at the end of the Southey Point bus route, and parents will do the building on a voluntary basis.

GM Reports Profit For Third Quarter

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. has reported a net profit of $65,633,266 for this year's third quarter, compared with $122,175,621 for the same period in 1957.

GM is, the only one of the three big auto makers to report a third-quarter profit. Ford lost $21,600,000 and Chrysler $20,000,000.

WALLS ARE GOING UP on the new Shelbourne Elementary School which will be filled with children from new subdivisions in the Mor-timer Street area next fall. Picture taken today shows ideal setting chosen for school, spacious and screened by trees.

THE "GOOD OLD DAYS" couldn't hold a candle to today's school construction. Picture of workshop in new Oak Bay addition, to be formally opened Thursday night, points up change from dark, cramped classrooms to well-lighted, functional rooms providing breathing space for students at work. (Times photos by Bill Halkett.)

Big Push on Schools for Bumper Pupil Crop

More than $500,000 worth of school construction is underway as the Greater Victoria School Board prepares to meet another bumper influx of students next year.

Last lap of the board's $5,600,000 five-year construction program will begin after current work is completed.

Thursday an official opening ceremony will be held in the new Oak Bay Senior High School addition at 8 p.m.

Originally estimated to cost close to $600,000, the addition was completed in six months at a cost of $472,000, providing 12 new teaching areas, a gymnasium auditorium and new washrooms for the increased enrollment.

Meanwhile, hammers and saws are in action as three new elementary schools and an addition are going up to provide 25 new classrooms for the expanding pupil population.

These include the seven-room Shelbourne, Hampton and Uplands Elementary Schools and a four-room addition to Sir James Douglas Elementary School.

NEXT SPRING

The Uplands school and Sir James Douglas addition will be ready for use next spring. The other two schools will go into operation next fall.

After that, work will be launched on a new senior high school for the Esquimalt-Victoria West area permitting conversion of Esquimalt High School to a junior high.

Next on the priority list will be a junior high school in Gordon Head area, an activity room at McKenzie Avenue Elementary School and last an office expansion at Craigdarroch Castle, school board headquarters.

REPLY TO CRITICS

Surveying progress of the building program, school superintendent John Gough today answered criticisms that construction costs were too high.

"It can safely be said that school construction costs are lower, on a per square foot basis, than home construction costs," he said.

The Oak Bay Senior High School addition cost only $10.25 per square foot even though it was of reinforced concrete construction.

Architect's figures on home construction place the costs at $11 a square foot for average homes and $14 for quality homes, he said.

EMERY NEW PRESIDENT OF CITY ART GALLERY

Tony Emery, Times columnist, was elected president of the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria at the annual meeting Tuesday, succeeding Cmdr. P. F. Fairfull.

Elected to the board of directors were: Mrs. R. S. Conn, Mrs. F. A. Hawkins, Charles Nelles, Hugh Stephen, Robert J. Harvey, W. Bart Carson, G. K. Sammon, L. P. Jones, Mrs. W. Mearns, Arthur Dowell and Mrs. Elsa Mayhew.

In his inaugural address, Mr. Emery referred to the Art Gallery's new wing as "only the first step in a continuing program of expansion."

ALTERNATIVE FOR SAANICH, SAYS REEVE

Subdivision Control Instead of Merger?

Subdivision control instead of amalgamation may be the answer to Saanich's problems, Reeve George Chatterton said today.

The reeve said a proposal to restrict subdivision developments in certain zones, creating solid urban belts, would minimize and "perhaps eliminate" one of the main advantages of amalgamation with the city.

However, Reeve Chatterton has not committed himself yet to either side of the amalgamation issue, which is favored in a report prepared for the city and Saanich by UBC economist Dr. J. J. Deutsch.

He plans to make a stand after a Nov. 5 council meeting when the report will be discussed with Dr. Deutsch.

ATTACK SPRAWL

Reeve Chatterton's comments followed presentation of a report by Saanich town planner Tony Parr which recommended new zoning bylaws for an attack on urban sprawl.

Mr. Parr said cost of providing services to present scattered developments would total $100,000 over the next 20 years.

But roping off certain sectors for intensive development of roads, sewers and other services would bring the price down to $27,000,000, he said.

Reeve Chatterton said this plan of concentrating development would have to be carried out whether or not Saanich amalgamated with the city.

"So we are faced with doing it ourselves or having someone else do it for us," he said.

Dr. Deutsch had predicted that Saanich taxes would have to go up over the next five years to finance development of services to its urban areas.

HE AGREED

"I asked Dr. Deutsch if we restricted subdivisions to certain areas if it wouldn't minimize one of his main arguments for amalgamation," said Reeve Chatterton. "Dr. Deutsch agreed it would."

Recommendations in Mr. Parr's plan for concentrated development are:

1. Gordon Head drainage basin to be designated by a subdivision bylaw as a residential expansion area. This would include all of the projected Cadboro Bay-Shelbourne-Ruby sewer area.

2. A detailed community plan to be prepared for this area so that paving, water, drainage and sewer improvements can be tied closely to provision of schools, parks and other facilities.

3. Minimum lot size within the sewer area to be 6,000 square feet.

4. Beyond the sewer area but still inside the residential expansion sector, minimum lot size to be 8,400 square feet. The minimum would be reduced as sewers were extended.

5. Cordova Bay area to be declared a residential expansion sector and subdivisions permitted.

6. Minimum lot size of three acres in outlying areas of the municipality, but subdivision of existing two-acre lots into one-acre lots to be permitted.

"Unless sprawl is stopped, the future of Saanich is ruined," Mr. Parr said in making the recommendations.

AMALGAMATION REPORT

This is the first of 10 parts presenting the verbatim report made by Dr. J. J. Deutsch to a Victoria-Saanich committee in which amalgamation of the two municipalities was recommended. The report is being printed in a serial form in the interests of voters who may cast ballots on the question.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE VICTORIA-SAANICH AMALGAMATION STUDY

Foreword:

The relationship between Victoria and Saanich is a type that has become familiar throughout North America as a result of the rapid growth in urban areas during the past 20 years. In Greater Victoria there is the familiar case of a central city with a concentration of commercial, business, administrative, industrial and recreational facilities serving an entire metropolitan region.

The area of the central city is relatively small and its usable land is very largely occupied. Adjoining the central city there is a municipality with a much larger area which is relatively thinly settled and comprises a substantial amount of rural land. Much the greater part of the increases in urban populations in recent years have taken place everywhere in such adjoining municipalities of which Saanich is not an untypical example.

The new urban dwellers together with many who have moved out from older districts have built their homes in suburban developments but the activities in the central city have continued to provide the main opportunities for employment. This has been the case in respect of Victoria and Saanich.

Population Trends 1941-1976

Rates of Population Increase

	Victoria	Saanich
1941	44,068	16,811
1951	51,331	28,481
1958	56,000	42,300
Percentage Increase (1941-58)	27%	152%

The population trends of recent years may be expected to continue into the future. The unoccupied area in Victoria is relatively small but in Saanich municipality there remains some 25 square miles of non-urban land. Authoritative forecasts indicate that in about 10 years the population of Saanich municipality will begin to exceed that of Victoria and will rise to substantially higher figures in succeeding years.

Population Forecast

	Victoria	Saanich
1958	56,000	42,300
1968	59,500	59,000
1976	63,000	75,900
Percentage Increase (1958-76)	13%	79%

*Forecasts supplied by B. Wiessman, Planning Director, Capital Region Planning Board.

Developments arising out of sources. Saanich municipality has had to rely almost entirely, apart from provincial grants, upon tax levies on residential property.

4. Victoria has provided urban services in respect of public health, industrial promotion, parks, protection and community amenities considerably in excess of the needs of its own residents owing to the daily influx of a rapidly growing population from beyond its borders. Saanich being almost entirely a residential and rural municipality has so far been able to avoid many of the problems of an expanding flow of activity within a confined area.

5. Victoria has had a well-established system of municipal administration which has required relatively little elaboration in order to cope with the growth of the city. Saanich, on the other hand, has had to face the task of building a comprehensive system of municipal administration over a comparatively short period.

These differing circumstances in the two municipalities are reflected in their respective finances and the character of these services.

MONTE ROBERTS

One of the most popular features in The Times—and deservedly so—is Ask the Times (bottom left hand corner, this page).

Along with thousands of others, I read Ask the Times daily, and find my store of knowledge is greatly enhanced thereby.

After reading the answers in Ask the Times, I feel stronger mentally, more able to cope with the complexities of modern life.

At least, this is usually the case. But not so yesterday.

Yesterday there appeared this question: "Q. Which is correct, 'he who laughs first, laughs last', or 'he who laughs last, laughs longest?' L.J.D."

To which Ask the Times replied, with brevity bordering on the austere:

"A. Both are used."

Now, I ask you (or should I Ask the Times?)

WHO uses both? Perhaps L.J.D. uses both "he who laughs first, laughs last," and "he who laughs last, laughs longest."

If L.J.D. uses both these expressions, he is probably the only person in the world to do so, so why does he worry about which is correct?

Why not just toss a coin?

Personally, I can think of many other versions of the famous "he laughs best who laughs last," to which I presume L.J.D. was referring.

One I especially like is attributed to Nietzsche: "He who laughs best today, will also laugh last." If he means what I think he means, he means the man with the best sense of humor will wind up the happiest.

However, I commend to the attention of L.J.D. and Ask the Times my very own version of the "last laugh" bit: He who laughs best laughs lastly.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The Society for Peace by Peaceful Means, which was recently set up in Victoria, will meet at the Health and Welfare Centre, 1947 Cook Street, on Thursday at 8 p.m.

Glen Hamilton will be in the chair and the society will elect a board of directors.

Just recently the society received a letter from a British organization known as The Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament giving the names of Canadian citizens who have written for information.

Victoria's four major dairies are believed to have made new contract offers when they met with representatives of 200 employees Tuesday.

Renewal of negotiations followed workers' 89-78 vote last week against strike action to back up pay demands.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. In taking social studies, I have two weeks to prepare an essay on Vancouver Island's history. Where can I find this data?—T.P.

A. Go to the provincial library in the Legislative buildings and tell them just what aspect of V.I.'s history you have in mind.

Q. Could you please tell me the average temperature per month for a year in Calgary? And what is the rainfall?—A.K.

A. January through December mean temperature per month follows: 15, 17, 26, 40, 46, 56, 62, 59, 51, 32, 28 and 19. Mean precipitation is 16.87 inches, including rain and snow. Rain accounts for 11.84 inches of this.

Q. Into what income category do most Canadians come?—M.T.

A. Most are in the $2,000-$3,000 wage group, closely followed by the $3,000-$4,000 group, of whom 947,930 were reported at the last count.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

City council members at times can't even get into their own parking spots behind the city hall, police commission was told today.

City manager C. C. Wyatt said the parking there, reserved for council members and civic officials, is "being abused" by unauthorized cars.

He suggested that a sticker be issued those entitled to park in the space.

Representation of city council and the Greater Victoria school board were scheduled today to battle over city-owned lots reserved for school purposes.

The meeting, called by the department of education, was to be held in the Douglas building. The issue arose recently when city council decided to lift reservations, put on about a dozen properties 14 years ago, and offer them for sale.

B.C. Electric said today warning up its buses before being sent out was a costly procedure and not "justified" during present "mild weather."

The statement was made in a letter sent by the company's transportation manager, H. R. Halls, to Victoria Labor Council in reply to recent criticism by council delegates that city buses were "cold and damp" first thing in the morning.

Gilbert Hogg, 13 Vickery Place, through his lawyer, pleaded guilty in city police court today to drinking in a public place. He drank rye in a parked car. Fine was $50.

A welcoming ceremony was held by Greater Victoria Citizenship Council for 25 candidates who will receive citizenship certificates at the Court House Thursday at 10 a.m.

'TALES OF HOFFMAN'

Adventure-Loving Cleric Dies Here

A man who scratched an escape tunnel from a Russian prison in the First World War, the day before he was to have been hanged, died in his Victoria home today.

He was Rev. Dr. Frank Hoffman, 81, of 305 Beaumont Avenue, a native of Hungary who lived in retirement here following a colorful and adventurous life. The widow, Mrs. Jean Hoffman, has also travelled widely and was formerly a frontier nurse.

While serving as an officer in the Austro-Hungarian Army, Dr. Hoffman fled from his Russian jailers at Berezowka near Balk Lake in April 1918 after being told he would be hanged.

The Russian commissars started gathering prisoners who seemed fit and pressing them into the Red Army. Dr. Hoffman and three comrades protested and were put in solitary confinement.

Dr. Hoffman's jail was a small log cabin with an earthen floor. He clawed a tunnel under the wall with his hands and a few rusty tools and travelled all night away from his captors.

He trudged right across Siberia and entered Canada illegally after being smuggled aboard a troopship.

CLEARED

After the war he cleared himself with the immigration department, graduated from a theological college and became a United Church missionary at large to 17 Hungarian settlements scattered over 60,000 square miles of Saskatchewan.

Dr. Hoffman was born in the village of Kunmadaras, Hungary, the son of a Calvinist minister of small means. With the aid of government scholarships, he graduated from an agricultural college, studied law and gained a doctor's degree; he became manager of a model farm and was appointed to the chair of economics and statistics at Kass Agricultural College.

Retiring to Victoria in 1905, Dr. Hoffman became a good friend to Hungarian settlers and assisted immigration authorities as an interpreter.

He spoke Magyar, German, English, French, Russian Turkish, Greek and Latin and was highly respected for his courtesy, integrity and kindness.

In 1924 Dr. Hoffman married Jean Innes Cryle, a Scottish ex-army sister who was then

Victorians Out of Money In 'Irish'

Horses carrying the hopes of Victoria sweepstake ticket holders in today's Cambridgeshire handicap ran out of the money.

Two of them—Loppylugs and Cash and Courage—made a run for it at the half-way mark before fading.

The third, Liza Goblin, a 100-1 shot, failed to get a call.

Mrs. M. E. Ellis, Mt. Edwards Apartments, Vancouver St., who held a ticket on Cash and Courage, said she wasn't excited.

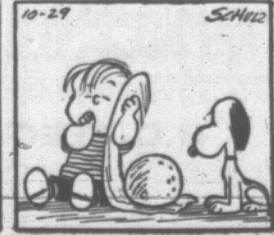

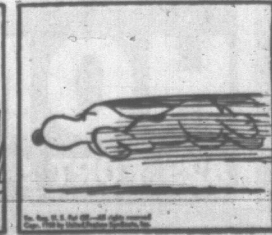

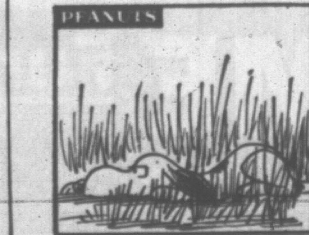

"I listened to the race broadcast, but my chances were so remote, there was really nothing to be excited about," she said.

The ticket on Loppylugs was held by Mrs. Z. I. Fawcett, 2345 Cranmore.

"I was hoping, but my hopes weren't very high," she said. "I am grateful for what I am going to get."

Those who drew horses will receive about $1,500.

Ticket on Liza Goblin was held by Kenneth Eng, 538 Figgard. Non-starters, also worth $1,500 each, were drawn by William Brown, 4125 Birtles, and Mrs. Ethel Roberts, 1772 Bay.

New Basement Wall Paint Resists Alkali and Lime!

By PENNY SAVER

Did you know that most basement wall paints fail because of alkali, lime and moisture content present in all types of masonry? Neither did I until it was brought to my attention recently, that our basement walls were becoming a little worse for wear as far as the painted finish was concerned!

So down to the paint store we did go as fast as we could run to consult with our dealer about the ugly effect this peeling, flaking, chipping and color change was giving our walls!

He showed us a special basement wall paint that can't be influenced by alkali or lime. Best of all, this paint is easy to apply and ready to use... so there's no messy mixing of dry ingredients and no time to burn your hands or endanger the eyes.

Warm water and soap cleans brushes, rollers and hands in a wink... then there is no trace of paint all over you and the equipment for days after the job is finished!

Colors in this paint include pink, green, grey, yellow, sea green, blue, ivory and sand. The finish sells at $8.30 a gallon and a quart costs just $2.40.

Call me for the store where you can buy your basement wall paint. My number is EV 2-3131.

TODAY'S RECIPE

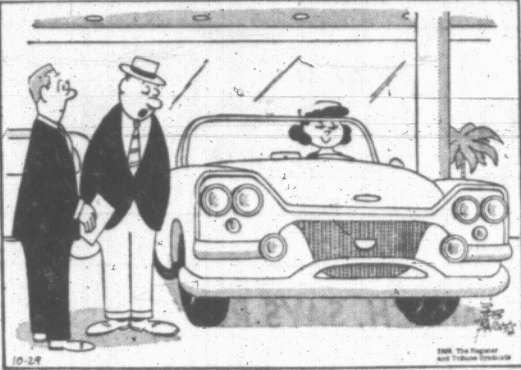

SNOW BALL SALAD

One package strawberry-flavored gelatin, 2 cups hot water, 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, 1½ cups canned fruit cocktail, salad greens, cream cheese, milk or cream.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water and stir in lemon juice. Cool until slightly thickened. Fold in well-drained fruit cocktail. Turn into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Soften cream cheese with a little milk or cream and spread over molds. Garnish with additional fruit cocktail, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

LEAVE YOUNGSTERS HOME!

A bride's mother recently told the groom's family that children are not wanted at the wedding dinner. She said that if she had known that some of the relatives intended to take their children, she would have put "no children" on the invitations. I have never heard of such a thing. She asked for a list of the groom's relatives and, after receiving it, said it had to be cut down at least half. All she wants is the immediate family, yet 160 people have been invited. She also told the groom that he should pay for some of the reception refreshments as well as the hall rental and orchestra, and that the ushers must pay for the bridesmaids' bouquets. Please put us straight.

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS

Children should never, never be taken to a wedding reception unless they are specifically invited and guests should never ask if they may bring the children. It would be an insult to discerning people to be told in black and white "No children." No one should question the right of the parents in limiting the number of guests. That is their prerogative and they have their own reasons. The bride's mother should have told the groom's mother that the reception list must necessarily have to be small and should have given some idea as to how many names. Sometimes 160 people can be comparatively small, depending on the size of the families. However, since the bride's parents do the inviting, the other mother should comply, perhaps with disappointment, but without question. It was not correct that the groom pay for any of the reception costs or that the ushers pay for the bridesmaids' flowers.

Victorian Opens Gay Shop In Fabulous Palm Springs

By NONA DAMASKE

What a thrill it was to be in Palm Springs when official opening of The Christmas Shop took place and to share in the excitement when a friend from home launched a new venture.

Mary Palmer, well-known Victorian, has been living in Palm Springs for three years now and intends to make it her future home.

The charming and unique shop is located on the village's North Palm Canyon Drive and it will feature originals and imports.

In the line of holiday decorations I found ballerina Christmas trees made of dream puff and foil in sparkling candy colors; fantasy Christmas trees crowned with petite flowers; glory stars and trees with vigil lights and decorated in twilight stars and sequins as well as a wonderful array of Christmas boxes.

Among the exciting Portuguese imports are hand-loomed cocktail aprons and hand-loomed sheepherder's blankets in fabulous patterns and so tightly woven they are almost waterproof. There are huge duffel bags; too, and a variety of interesting Majorcan straw hats for sportswear or street wear.

Some other eye-catching gift ideas are glamorous silver decorated knitting baskets and "flowers for keeps" featuring artificial fruit and flowers in either antique or modern containers.

Associated with Mary Palmer in this new venture are Melba Bennett, originator of Palm Spring hats, her daughter Dee-dee and Louise Head.

Good luck, Mary! I'm sure you know your friends in Victoria will be pulling for you! PS—Arthur and Marie Ash spent a few days with Mary Palmer recently. They now live in San Diego. Mary's young niece, Barbara Wade, is spending the winter with her in Palm Springs.

When you read this I'll be in Los Angeles. Home by the end of the week.

Dinner—Salt Spring Island Anglican Woman's Auxiliary sponsored a turkey dinner in the parish hall at Ganges recently. Mrs. G. H. Holmes was general convener, assisted by WA members and the girls' choir. Decorations were arranged by Mrs. C. Elliott and Mrs. A. R. Price.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here Are Suggestions for Trick and Treat Dieters

With thousands of you now losing surplus pounds with my new Trick and Treat Diet, I would like to give you a few suggestions which will help you keep your ideal weight once you have achieved it. In order to do this you must think of your reducing diet as a guide to a way of life.

By this I do not mean that you should continually keep your calorie count at the low reducing level or forever forego party foods and therefore be different from others on all social occasions. However, if you mentally throw your hat over the goal post after losing those overweight pounds, and think, "Well, thank heavens that is over!" you will never hold that lovely line.

What a shame it would be to subject yourself to the discipline which reducing requires and then have all of the lost pounds back within a few weeks time. As I said, holding your weight at the ideal point requires a certain way of life, or even better, a certain state of mind.

For instance, if you know that you are going to a dinner party in a night or so you can cut your calories a little lower for a few days preceding the party. If, unexpectedly, you run into a day of heavy eating, you can cut down for a few days afterwards.

If you lead an active social life, then you may need to adopt even more strenuous methods, but you do not need to talk about them to others. When the hors d'oeuvres are passed, choose the carrot sticks, the celery, the salmon or cucumber or shrimp canapes rather than rich creamy or cheese ones.

When at a dinner party you can take some of everything—but you need not give yourself a large serving or eat all of the carbohydrates. You can take a hot roll and dessert and leave part of them. You can, without being noticed, leave some of the rich sauces or gravy.

Cut out the habit of in-between meal snacks. If you drink, choose whisky and water rather than an Old Fashioned or a Manhattan.

So, after losing extra pounds, start slowly and cautiously in giving yourself more leeway. Two or three pounds variance is not alarming but when it's five pounds too much you had best begin using some of the preventive measures I have mentioned, or even better lose the five before they multiply.

one piece of toast, coffee with one teaspoon sugar.
Luncheon: Broiled lean meat patty (three ounces), one half cup carrots, one glass skim milk, one medium apple.

Dinner: Six ounces vegetable juice, two Rye Krisps, four ounces lean beef, one-half cup carrots and peas, flavored with one teaspoon butter, one-half cup grapefruit sections (fresh or water packed canned).

If you have missed some of the Trick and Treat diet menus and would like to have this diet in a small booklet, send 10-cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

BCE Denies Wengren
Hookup

A suggestion by Liberal leader Arthur Laing that the B.C. Electric has signed an agreement to use high-cost power from the proposed Wenner-Gren development in B.C. has been denied by company vice-president Dr. Harry L. Purdy.

Mr. Laing called on B.C. Electric president A. E. Grauer Monday for "an unequivocal statement as to whether his firm has signed an agreement to use this high-cost power in the Greater Vancouver, Fraser Valley and Victoria areas."

Mr. Laing told a party rally that if the B.C. Electric has signed such an agreement this area "will be shackled for all time by the highest power rates in Canada, if not on the continent."

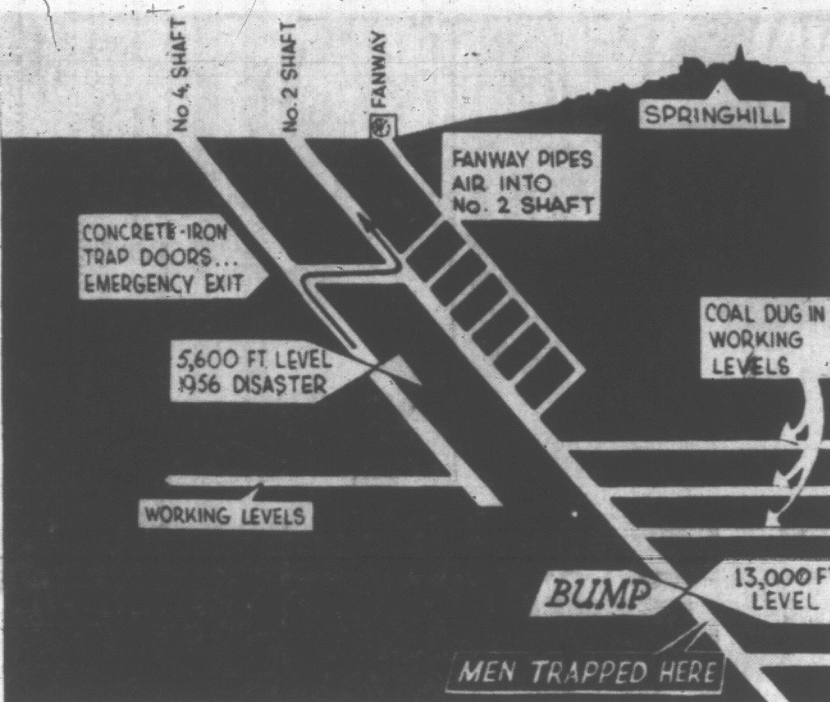

The provincial leader wanted to know if the BCE is behind Axel Wenner-Gren's scheme to build an industrial empire in B.C.'s northern Rocky Mountain trench by developing Peace River power.

In denying an agreement has been signed between his company and the Wenner-Gren interests, Dr. Purdy said cost of power from the Peace River will not be known until considerably more engineering has been completed.

Such an agreement, if signed, would rob B.C. of chance to become an industrial province, Mr. Laing said.

To spur industrial development in the province, present power rates charged industrial

Two of Rescued Men
Survived 1956 Blast

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—Two of the 12 men found alive in Cumberland No. 2 Colliery are survivors of the 1956 explosion in an adjoining mine.

Hugh Guthro and Joseph McDonald, among 88 men who came up alive two years ago after a blast wrecked and sealed No. 4 Colliery, are alive at the 13,000-foot level of No. 2, where a great upheaval trapped 174 miners last Thursday night.

Six other survivors of the explosion are still trapped in No. 2, with no word on whether they are alive. They are Chesley Harrison, Frank Hunter, John Jackson, Percy Rector, Lester Reid and Percy Spence.

Two of the No. 4 survivors are known to have died in the No. 2 bump—Charlie Burton, first of the men to emerge from No. 4 in 1956, and Gus Gillis.

Others who survived both tragedies and who came out of the mine shortly after the bump are William Cormier, Archie Legere, Leon Melanson and Gerald Millard.

Entombed Men
Being Fed
Through Tubes

HALIFAX (CP)—Mines Minister Manson of Nova Scotia said tonight rescue crews have advanced to within 40 feet of 12 men trapped alive in the Cumberland No. 2 mine.

He said the diggers, redoubling their efforts to reach the survivors, advanced about 20 feet in 2½ hours.

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—Twelve men were found alive today on the 13,000-foot level of No. 2 Colliery, wrecked by a giant upheaval last Thursday night. A mine official said, "There may be more."

Reports of the miraculous survival came as rescue workers and mine officials had all but given up hope that any of the 69 men sealed behind tons of rock and timber could still be alive.

When a bump shattered the depths of the mine seven days ago 174 men were trapped. Eighty-one were later rescued and 24 bodies brought out.

While hopes for the survival of others were vanishing, rescue workers continued to toil through the wreckage. It wasn't until today that they reached the 13,000-foot level where about 55 miners were believed entombed.

Rescue workers said they received a message from the trapped men through a six-inch pipe. "There are 12 of us here," said the men. "Come and get us."

Mine officials said the men were 60 feet away behind a heap of rock and debris. They estimated the men would be reached about midnight tonight or in the early hours of Thursday morning.

As soon as word reached the pithead that the men were alive, hot liquids were sent into the mine. They were immediately passed through the tube to the men.

The survival of the 12 raised hopes that others trapped on the same level might also be alive. However, there was no immediate word.

FOUND DIFFICULTY

Rescue workers had previously broken through to the 13,400 and 13,800-foot levels but had great difficulty reaching those at 13,000 feet.

Fifty-seven men remain unaccounted for but rescue workers now are digging with renewed hope that further survivors will be among them. Rocks, timbers, rails and coal cars packed into a solid mass in some places have slowed the job of clearing wreckage from the depths of the mine deepest in North America.

One body was brought to the surface Tuesday night and another today. Miners said it took them eight hours to burrow 25 feet Tuesday. Before that an average eight-hour shift had taken rescuers a mere 12 feet along the 13,000-foot level.

There was no immediate word on the condition of the 12 men found today. Mine officials could not estimate how long it

Sommers Case Goes To Jury Thursday

(See Page 19)

VANCOUVER (CP)—The presiding judge in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial said today the jury might think that the actions of a timber executive in his dealings with a large lumber concern were of "dubious business morality."

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, continuing his summation in the 73rd day of the trial, was referring to H. Wilson Gray, president of Pacific Coast Services Limited, and his dealings with the multi-million dollar timber concern of B.C. Forest Products Limited, who paid him $30,000.

The Crown alleges this money went all or in part to former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers as a bribe for a forest management licence the company was granted in 1955.

The judge, who is expected to conclude his summation sometime Thursday and ask the jury for a verdict on the main count of conspiracy, concluded his general narrative. He then began reviewing the defence in the case of each of the eight accused.

He noted the Crown claimed the B.C. Forest Products money was to bribe the former minister. But the defence said that was not the case and that the money was paid to Gray for valuable services rendered.

Part of the work the company said that was done by Gray was in connection with the purchase by B.C. Forest of the huge Kapoor timber stand on Vancouver Island for $3,000,000. The deal fell through.

The judge noted that while Gray was reporting to B.C. Forest and getting paid for it, he was actually the selling agent for the Kapoor interests. The justice said that because of this the jury might think his dealings were of "dubious business morality."

He told the jurors that if in their minds B.C. Forest had established a bona fide explanation or had even raised a reasonable doubt, then the jury would find there was a legitimate consideration involved for the money paid.

In a generalization the judge told the jurors that they must in considering the testimony of witnesses start on the premise that all of them were perfectly respectable and decent people.

If there was anything against any witness it must have arisen in the trial itself.

He said the complexity of B.C. Forest must to a great extent hinge on the testimony of the company's former chief financial officer, Trevor Daniels. Daniels has testified being told that $30,000 was to be paid for a timber licence through H. W. Gray and all or part of it was to go to Sommers.

In conflict with this, however, the judge noted, was the testimony of B.C. Forest vice-president Thomas Burgess, who had denied knowledge of any corrupt purpose and had said there were many financial matters that would not be known to Daniels.

The judge said his own belief was—but the jury must decide for themselves—that B.C. Forest made a genuine and honest effort to buy the Kapoor timber.

But he added that if the jury accepted that, then it was left with the question as to how much Gray had to do with it and whether his work on that deal and other matters justified the big payments made to him by B.C. Forest.

MONTEREY PARK, Calif. — Detective Richard Brammer told his partner, Joe Durban, Tuesday that he had dreamed of arresting Albert Rodela, whom they had been hunting a month on a forgery warrant.

In the dream, Brammer said, the arrest was made at the home of Rodela's sister.

So the detectives went to the sister's home.

Ten minutes later Rodela drove up, and Brammer's dream came true.

CORSIER - SUR - VEVEY, Switzerland — Charlie Chaplin's secretary said today a report the veteran comedian planned to leave Switzerland and move to Canada was "ridiculous."

The report carried by a Hollywood trade publication said the purpose behind this planned move was to enable Chaplin to visit the U.S. when he wants not as a "deported" Briton but as a Canadian resident.

HOLLYWOOD — Zeppo Marx, 57, youngest of show business' Marx Brothers, is engaged to marry blonde model Diane Davies, 22.

They haven't set a date for the marriage, he said Tuesday. They met about six months ago in Las Vegas, Nev., where the bride-to-be attended high school.

LONDON — An enterprising, unappreciated artist Tuesday offered what was probably the biggest bargain in the history of British art. His unsigned, unframed portrait of a girl was put up for sale in a shop window with the notation: "Price £200,000 ($500,000) — reduced to 25 shillings" ($3.50).

The Canadian high commissioner in New Delhi first proposed the idea that Mr. Diefenbaker go on a hunt of his own. The prime minister was all for it—until he heard of the prohibitive costs involved in such a venture.

would take them to get survivors to the surface after rescuers reach them.

What makes the survival of the 12 all the more amazing is that they have been entombed almost six days. In 1956 survivors were reached after 1½ days.

The trapped miner who gave the message through the pipe was Gorley Kempt. Blair Phillips, an engineer taking tests for gas, took the message.

Mr. Gordon was standing in the mine office when a Canadian Press reporter reached there. He smiled and nodded. A tear was running down his cheek.

There were tears in many eyes as word of the miracle spread through this stricken mining town. A taxi driver who drove a newspaperman to the mine was crying.

Tough Soviet Line Dims A-Ban Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials saw little hope today for an early agreement between Russia and the Western powers for a start on disarmament in the nuclear age.

They blame the darkening prospect on evidence that the Soviet Union is following a generally tougher line in its relations with the West.

Two negotiations are imminent. On Friday the United States, Britain and Russia will open diplomatic talks at Geneva on a possible ban on nuclear weapons testing, to be backed up by a world-wide inspection system to prevent violations.

Ten days later panels of Communist and Western experts will start discussions on the technical problems involved in preventing surprise attack—such things as ground and aerial inspection systems that would be capable of discovering concentrations of troops and weapons in advance of a massive assault.
